BIGHORN MOUNTAIN TRAIL 18 MILE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Course Markings: The course is marked with orange wire, orange flags, green arrow signs, glow sticks, and reflective tape. As a participant, you are responsible for following the provided markings at all times.

Course elevation at the start: 7650 feet.

These directions and distances are estimated. A final description will be available at the pre-race briefing.

The 18M course begins at the designated parking area above the HEAD OF THE DRY FORK Aid Station and proceeds up the Freeze Out Road, following trails and a gravel road cresting on Camp Creek Ridge at 7854 feet. It then descends down Sheep Creek drainage to 7,300 feet on a four-wheel drive road. At about 4 1/2 miles you will reach the fully supplied UPPER SHEEP CREEK aid station. Next is the summit of Horse Creek Ridge at 7,450 feet, following trails and primitive four-wheel drive roads, which will then drop you into Tongue River Canyon. Take a moment to view the canyon and the distant plains before you descend the trail through seas of wildflowers.

LOWER SHEEP CREEK aid station at mile 10 and 5025 feet, is a good place to fill one bottle before entering the sometimes-hot canyon below. Continuing on to the TONGUE RIVER Aid Station at mile 12 1/2 and approximately 4240 feet you will leave the trail and run on a relatively flat gravel road for the remainder of the distance. At about mile 15 is the final Aid Station, HOMESTRETCH aid station. Continue on and just as you are entering Dayton you will cross the Tongue River on a rustic footbridge. Runners then cross Highway 14 and proceed into town making a left onto 3rd street. Go one block and make a left onto Broadway and into Scott Park where the FINISH and picnic gala await you.

Aid Station Offerings

People who have been to Bighorn before know we have some of the BEST aid stations in the Ultra event world. Following are just a few things you will see on course. Prepare to be amazed by what these stations pull off on supplies! It will "BLOW YOUR MIND" the detail they go to for your comfort during the race. Please remember that the Volunteer aid stations worked really hard to get the supplies to the station and please be grateful for what they brought, after all they can't have everything.

Minimal - These stations are packed in on foot and will offer- water, hydration drink, trail mix, pretzels, granola bars, candy, nuts, jerky, some gel packets.

Moderate- These stations are usually accessed by ATV or horseback- water, hydration drink, trail mix, chips and crackers, cookies, granola bars, candy, nuts, fresh fruit, soda.

Major- Fully accessible by vehicles - water, hydration drink, meat and cheese roll ups, sandwiches, soup, chips, fresh fruit, soda, cookies, candy, nuts, jerky, and lots of special items.

BIGHORN 18 MILE MEDICAL INFORMATION

- It is important for the participant to recognize the potential physical and mental stresses, which may evolve from participation in this race. Runners may be subject to extreme temperatures of heat and cold, hypothermia, heat stroke, kidney failure, seizures, low blood sugar, disorientation, injury, falling rock or trees, wild animal or reptile attack, or even death from their participation in this event.
- Medical personnel will be dispersed along the course. If medical personnel have concerns for your health and safety, they may ask to attend to you. The goal of medical personnel and all aid station volunteers is to get you safely to the finish line. They will help you make any decisions that involve your health and safety in completing the race. Keep in mind, the safety of our volunteers is very important to us and a decision to continue resulting in having to be rescued could put those volunteers in danger while rescuing you.
- Adequate pre-race conditioning is mandatory and a participant should not run the race if they have not been able to prepare adequately to run safely. Hypothermia and heat illness will be significant risks in this race. Both can cause nausea, dizziness, and mental confusion. Impending heat stroke may be signaled by a decrease in sweating and goose bumps and can progress to collapse in a short period of time. The diagnosis of why a runner is nauseated requires careful consideration of temperature conditions at the time of illness, altitude, and race pace to arrive at corrective measures. Proper race pace is crucial. A runner must be careful not to exceed their own physiologic thresholds, which may vary according to temperature, altitude, terrain, and conditioning. High altitudes above 7000 feet coupled with strenuous exertion may produce various degrees of altitude sickness. This can lead to severe lung and brain swelling which without treatment could even lead to death. Treatment for altitude sickness is rest and descending to a lower altitude. Altitude sickness can be prevented with altitude acclimation, proper fluid and electrolyte intake, and proper pace.
- Injuries from falling both on even or rough trail, hazards of running in possible snow conditions, falling rock or trees, and injuries related to adverse encounters with wildlife exist for the participant taking part in this race. Vehicle hazards, common fatigue, getting lost, and being far from medical help, treatment, and evacuation are just some of the other risks associated with participating in the Bighorn Trail Run. It is crucial that the runner has physically prepared himself/herself to safely participate in this race, stays mentally alert, stays adequately hydrated and nourished during the event, and is mentally prepared to withdraw at an appropriate time if he/she cannot safely continue.

COMMUNICATION & EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

- All participants will be checked in by their race number at the start by race management and will be checked in/out of all manned aid station checkpoints along the course.
- Sheridan Search and Rescue will provide communications support at all the manned aid stations. The communications personnel will be provided an accurate list of all starters and their race number.
- Each participant will have a check-in/check-out time recorded at each manned aid station with the information radioed to the next aid station to aid in accounting for each runner during the event.
- A trail sweep will be conducted at the appropriate time along each section of the trail. If the sweep fails to account for any runners, race officials will notify standby groups for an emergency search. If an emergency search is activated, any emergency search costs will be the responsibility of the entrant including any emergency search costs generated by the entrant failing to properly withdraw from the event by turning in their race number to the Aid Station captain at the closest aid station.

TIMING/ RESULTS

- Live Results made possible by Advanced Communication Technology and It's Your Race. ACT provides satellite internet communications for the Bighorn Trail Run, bringing the world wide web to the most remote areas of our Bighorn Mountains solely for the purpose of providing live streaming web results to the It's Your Race platform.
- Bighorn Trail Run and WYO Timing are proud to bring you and your family and friends live results. Your friends and family back home will be able to see your finish time online at itsyourrace.com. At the finish, there will be several kiosks and computers set up in the results area for your convenience where you may check your result, or you can check results on your mobile devices from the It's Your Race app.
- It is very important that your race bib is on the outside of your clothing in order for these times to be accurate. If you put on outerwear during the night, please move your bib to the outside of your clothing. If you shed your outerwear, be sure to move your race bib back. Chips are best read from your chest. If you choose to place your race bib on your shorts, there is a chance a time may not be captured.
