

THE WEIGHT OF SNOW AND REGRET

by Elizabeth Gauffreau

Elizabeth Gauffreau

"... a work of art, well researched, and lovingly structured."

—Kenneth Robbins, AWP Novel Award Recipient

FOR OVER 100 YEARS, NO ONE WANTED TO BE SENT TO THE SHELDON POOR FARM.
BY 1968, NO ONE WANTED TO LEAVE.

Amid the social turmoil of 1968, the last poor farm in Vermont is slated for closure. By the end of the year, the twelve destitute residents remaining will be dispatched to whatever institutions will take them, their personal stories lost forever. Told with compassion and humor, The Weight of Snow and Regret tells the poignant story of what it means to care for others in a rapidly changing world.

READER PRAISE

"Without question, I cared deeply about what happened to these people as the novel progressed, thanks to their well-told backstories."

"The central protagonists in the story persist. They are complex. They are resilient. They are courageous. And that, certainly, is a message for our time."

"... tender and beautifully written . . ."

~Elizabeth Gauffreau~Fiction Writer in Poet's Clothing~

Liz Gauffreau is an award-winning fiction writer and sometime poet living in Nottingham, New Hampshire. She holds a BA in English/Writing from Old Dominion University and an MA in Fiction Writing from the University of New Hampshire. Her professional background is in nontraditional higher education teaching, advising, and administration.

ISBN: (Paperback) 979-8-9907913-2-9 • Page Count: 410 • Trim: 6 X 9 inches • LCCN: 2024925369

Distributor: IngramSpark: Price: $15.99

ISBN: (Hardback): 979-8-9907913-3-6 • Page Count: 410 • Trim: 6 X 9 Inches • LCCN: 2024925369

Distributor: IngramSpark • Price: $23.99

ISBN: (EPUB): 979-8-9907913-4-3 • c. 101,000 words • Distributor: Draft2Digital • Price: $4.99

ISBN: (Audiobook) 979-8-9907913-5-0 • 11.5 hours run-time • Distributor: Author's Republic • Price: $20.99

Author Available for Presentations, Readings & Signings • Contact: elizabeth.gauffreau@comcast.net