

Paint Makes a Whole Room // Interior Designer Courtney Kleeman, of Courtney Kleeman Design in Wilton, says you can make a big impact with a little paint. "I have had the same furniture for 15 years," she says, "and each time I paint the walls, people think it's a whole new room!"

She doesn't look for trends in designing a home; instead, she says, "When someone walks into your home, they should get a sense of who you are as a person." If you want to be current with the moment, she explains that things that cost the least amount of money are things that should be trendy: throw pillows and accessories, for instance. courtneykleemandesign.com
