About LONG-X

LONG-X was established in early 2018. By integrating its professional engineering resources, the company is committed to providing global customers with comprehensive, one-stop services. In the past, we relied on our efficient independent production lines to meet customers' customization needs with high flexibility.

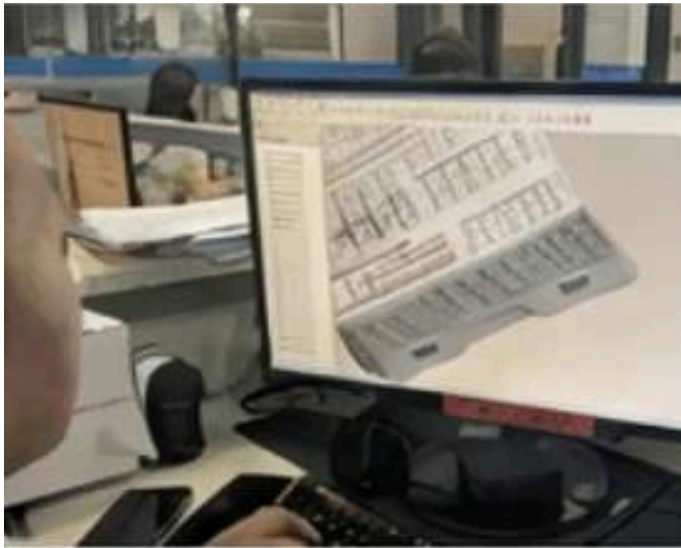

In 2026, to further respond to the urgent expectations of global customers for high-end production capacity, LONG-X achieved a strategic leap—the establishment of the "Zhaode Leather" modern production base as a wholly-owned subsidiary. This comprehensive upgrade significantly enhances the mass production and customization capacity for high-end bags and cases, achieving a 100% independent and controllable supply chain from source R&D to final delivery.
