673. Republic of China 20 Cents, Yr.15(1926). Dragon & Phoenix. L&M-82, Y-335. Handsome original pale amber to steel gray EF-AU with luster in devices. ($400-500)
674. Republic of China 20 Cents, Yr.15(1926), Dragon & Phoenix. L&M-82, Y-335. Golden-tan to gray Choice VF-EF, cpl tiny marks. ($300-400)
675. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman 50 Cents, Yr.3(1914). L&M-64, Y-328. VF-EF, old cleaning now retoning, cpl deeper areas of toning obverse. Popular and scarce. ($300-400)
676. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Plumed Hat Dollar, ND(1914). L&M-858, Y-322. Lustrous Unc, a few ever so faint lines and tiny ticks from Choice and an appealing example with hints of color at borders and flashy centers. Perhaps ever so ltly dipped or wiped at one point long ago, but now with handsome peripheral amber hues developing. A nice high grade specimen of this always popular type. Ex: PCI MS60 with tag. ($7500-10,000)
677. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar, Yr.3(1914). L&M-63, Y-329. Lustrous AU-Unc, a few faint lines and tiny ticks, cpl splashes of violet toning. ($200-300)
678. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar Quintet, Yr.3(1914). L&M-63, Y-329. Avg VF, one cld and recolored, others with small areas of carbon spotting or a few old marks/pin scs, rim bumps or the occasional small chopmark. Still a very useful collector grade grouping, some sharply defined and others with more notable impairment. 5 coins. ($300-500)
679. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar Trio, Yr.3(1914). L&M-63, Y-329. Avg EF, some minor hairlines or small marks, one ltly wiped, one with chopmark reverse. 3 coins. ($200-300)
680. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar Group, Yr.3(1914). L&M-63, Y-329. Includes a trio of VF-EF examples, cpl with hairlines and/or cld, one with an old scrape and a few lt old scs obverse. Also, an early lead example, thought by the collector to possibly be a Soviet Provincial, Military Provisional issue or local strike, our impression of the piece is that of an old-time contemporary circulating copy in Choice VF with original patina which is rather interesting. A lot worthy of a close look and some research. 3 Genuine coins + 1 early circulating copy. ($200-300)
681. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar, Yr.3(1914)-O. Small circle or O in left ribbon. L&M-63C, Y-329.4. Ltly cld Choice EF-AU, starting to retone in milky gray to pale gold with some scattered wispy hairlines. Always popular variant with obverse doubling at the insignia stars. ($300-500)

682. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar, Yr.9(1920). L&M-77, Y-329.6. Frosty lustrous Unc, some deeper areas of toning, patina and trace dark verdigris at edge – otherwise flashy and sharp, possibly could be improved with conservation. ($150-300)
683. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar, Yr.9(1920). As L&M-77, Y-329.6. Ltly toned original Borderline Unc, a few stray marks obverse. Quite possibly a scarcer sub-variety. ($200-300)
684. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar Pair, Yr.9(1920). L&M-77, Y-329.6. Fine hair variety, bright clnd/lty polished AU, cpl rim bumps and another EF, retoning lt golden-brown with faint hairlines. 2 coins. ($150-200)
685. Republic of China Yuan Shih-kai Fatman Dollar Pair, Yr.10(1921). L&M-79, Y-329.6. Avg VF, the first bright and hairlined while the second is toned, small chopmark obverse. 2 coins. ($150-200)
686. Republic of China Memento Dollar, ND(1927). L&M-49, Y-318. Frosty Unc, scattered lt contact, nice luster. ($100-150)
