ABOUT US

Since our establishment in Jamaica in 1922, the GraceKennedy Group has grown into one of the Caribbean's largest corporate entities, extending our reach to markets throughout the Caribbean, North and Central America, and the United Kingdom.

Grace Foods Canada is a subsidiary of the GraceKennedy Group based in Richmond Hill, Ontario. With a rich history spanning over 40 years in providing authentic Caribbean flavours, the company boasts an extensive portfolio of products, ranging from coconut water and sodas to hot pepper sauces and jerk sauces, bringing the essence of the Caribbean to kitchens in North America.

Embracing the Latin market with our La Fe brand, Grace Foods Canada offers essentials such as panela and bocadillo, alongside frozen products, readily available in leading grocery retailers and independent stores across Canada. As a distributor for numerous esteemed partner brands, Grace Foods Canada guarantees excellence and diversity in product offerings.

Banana & Plantain Chips

Plantain is classified as a fruit when ripe, but when green it is considered a vegetable because of its low sugar content. When green or ripe it can be boiled, baked or salted and fried. When green it can also be sliced into thin pieces, deep fried and eaten as a snack or grated and cooked as porridge.

Banana is a fruit that can be eaten when ripe or green. When green, it can be boiled, baked, sliced into thin pieces and eaten as a snack or grated and cooked as porridge. When ripe, it is commonly eaten at breakfast or used in desserts such as cakes and ice cream.

PEAS, BEANS & ACKEE

Ackee, Callaloo & Jackfruit

Grace Ackees: Jamaica's national dish is ackees and salt fish, a favourite in Jamaica and abroad. A bright red fruit that opens to reveal three large black seeds and a soft, creamy white flesh; ackees are often prepared like vegetables. When cooked, ackees are similar in texture and appearance to scrambled eggs, and are a popular breakfast item and a tantalizing delicacy.
