

Eric Hahn, Ph.D. - Currently serves as a social studies teacher (Clayton High School, part time.) He has previously taught Advanced Placement United States History, amongst a host of other social studies courses. He has published with Cengage Publishing, Bedford-Martin, and McGraw-Hill as an author of ancillaries for textbooks for AP US History and AP World History; In addition, he makes presentations for the College Board (as a Consultant) for experienced and novice teachers of Advanced Placement United States History & World History: Modern, test Writer for American & Board Certification for Teacher Education; College Board Advanced Placement World History Consultant (presentations to teacher groups) and Advanced Placement World History and World History Modern Reader and Table Leader;

University of Missouri, “e-Learning” consultant for Ken Burns “The War” project with PBS, Missouri Historical Society, Panel Member for HBO discussion, America’s Hero...Betrayed (Joe Louis documentary, 2008). Goethe Institute Summer Study Tour. Eric has enjoyed taking students abroad to India, Japan and Brazil for educational tours. He is also a proud board member of Safe Connections, DV/SV survivor’s help center (2008- Present)