

Gregory Carr-- a native of St. Louis, MO., is an instructor of Communication Studies and Theatre in the College of Arts and Science at Harris-Stowe State University. Gregory is an accomplished director, playwright, actor and published writer. His plays include "Lunch Rush," "Johnnie Taylor is Gone," "A Colored Funeral," "Mogadisha Lost," and "Live from Ferguson!" A motivational speaker of acclaim, he is now pursuing a doctoral degree in American Studies at Saint Louis University. Mr. Carr is a frequent presenter at the Beginning Teachers Assistance Program (BTAP) for the St. Louis Public Schools. His seminars receive rave reviews for his "Grammar's Hands" which explores linguistics, culture, and history. Greg previously worked with DPS 61 DLT staff and Administrators during SY20-21 guiding them through a year long PD series focused on culturally responsive teaching and equity.