Spring Break Safety Tips for Families

Spring is here. Trees are budding, flowers are blooming and kids and parents alike are anticipating a hiatus from the daily grind during Spring Break. While Spring Break is a popular time for family fun, it's also the season for injuries, blistering sunburns and complications from chronic illnesses that can land you in the ER.

Trauma or serious injury to a person's body is the primary cause of ER visits during Spring Break according to Jacquee Bogard, RN, director of emergency services at the Memorial Hermann Convenient Care Center in Cypress. This time of year, ER physicians typically see injuries from activities such as boating, biking, ATVs and hoverboards, to name a few.

While you can't prevent all accidents, you can take steps to minimize the risk. Before you head off on your annual road trip, or start your staycation, heed these important safety reminders.

Wear protective gear such as helmets and life jackets.

Sometimes, preventing injuries is as simple as following the recommended activity guidelines and using common sense.

Supervise children in your care.

Whether in the bathtub, swimming pool, lake or the ocean, children should always be supervised around water. According to the Centers for Disease Control, two children 14 years and under die every day from drowning and it is the third-leading cause of all deaths for children ages 1 to 4.

(www.cdc.gov/safecchild) Swim where there are lifeguards on duty and avoid distracting activities like card playing, reading or talking on the phone. You should be close enough to reach out and touch young children at all times.

Use sunscreen to protect against sunburn.

One of the most preventable visits to the emergency room is sunburns. For many families, Spring Break will be the first sun exposure since those Labor Day barbeques, so it is very important to wear a high SPF sunscreen and reapply every 4 to 6 hours, or more often if sweating or swimming. In lieu of sunscreen, babies under six months of age should be kept out of direct sunlight and dressed in loose, cool, protective clothing.

Wear light-colored cotton clothing, wide-brim hats and sunglasses to further protect skin from damaging rays.

This is good advice for all ages. The full extent of sunburn may not be felt or seen for a few hours. If you notice blisters, go to the ER. Otherwise, use damp, cool cloths and aloe gel to soothe the burn, and give Advil® or Tylenol® for pain.

Keep foods at appropriate temperatures.

Take steps to prevent foodborne illness, another common complaint in the ER during Spring Break. While trekking across country or lounging beachside, ensure your food and beverages are stored at, and heated to, appropriate temperatures. Nothing can wreck a vacation like nausea, vomiting and diarrhea.

Don't forget to pack your medications.

This is especially important if you have chronic health conditions like high blood pressure, diabetes, and asthma. You should keep a list of medications and dosages with you at all times. An easy rule of thumb is to keep the list where you keep your cash. Having this information will be helpful if you need to replace any medications while on your Spring Break getaway.

Consume alcohol responsibly.

This is good advice any time of the year.

Buckle up.

It's important to understand the proper seat belt fit and position for your kids and yourself, and to make sure everyone buckles up every time. Children under 13 should ride in the back seat for maximum safety. All children younger than 8 years old or under 4'9" in height are required to be in the appropriate child safety seat system whenever they ride in a passenger vehicle.

-Don't use your phone or any other electronic device while driving.

-Slow down. Speeding gives you less time to react and increases the severity of an accident.

Defensive driving

What is defensive driving? Defensive driving is when motorists use accident-preventing techniques with a focus on driving safely. You may even be eligible for a defensive driving discount. To practice defensive driving:

-Be aware of what other drivers around you are doing, and expect the unexpected.

-Assume other motorists will do something crazy, and always be prepared to avoid it.

-Keep a 2-second cushion between you and the car in front of you.

-Make that 4 seconds if the weather is bad.

Make a safe driving plan

-Build time into your trip schedule to stop for food, rest breaks, phone calls or other business.

-Adjust your seat, mirrors, and climate controls before putting the car in gear.

-Pull over to eat or drink. It takes only a few minutes.

Practice safety

-Secure cargo that may move around while the vehicle is in motion.

-Don't attempt to retrieve items that fall to the floor.

-Have items needed within easy reach – such as toll fees, toll cards and garage passes.
