NYC based artist Elliot Lee has unveiled her latest infectious pop meets electronic track. Called “Airplanes”, the vivacious single features rock artist Letdown for an ear-pleasing duet.

In “Airplanes”, Elliot Lee and Letdown. discuss their fear of flying and intense anxiety that can occur from any phobia. With crisp synths under fast paced rhymes that culminate into an attention worthy chorus, “Airplanes” is a standout alternative pop track. The feel good sonic energy of the song contrasts with the darker meaning of what fears we can have in life. Letdown. lends his passionate and soulful vocals that fit perfectly with the emotional tune.

Elliot Lee is a unique and unpredictable artist who has built a fervent fanbase who call themselves “the bubblegum” army. Letdown. is a rock meets pop artist from Dallas Texas who is heavily influenced by his struggle with mental health. Together, the duo are an undeniable force creating an evocative slice of anthemic dark pop.
