Dearest Folks,

I am still as healthy as I ever was and hope you all are the same.

I am still looking for letters from you and I probably will before long.

Necessity is certainly the mother of invention - we make cakes without baking powder, soda or eggs, and cut each others hair with a pair of pintless scissors.

I send Louise and Daddy my best wishes on their birthdays.

My instructor at Coleman may write - Give him all the particulars in case he writes.

We are engaged in a bridge tournament with a few decks of cards and a book on bridge. We are learning contract although the book we have is on Auction.

Don't worry about me for I am o.k. Love to All

Robert L. Fowler
