Director of Operations | APSS/CSA

My journey of service started in secondary school, when I was honored with the “Citizenship” and “Most Improved” awards. Those moments did more than recognize my efforts—they awakened in me a deep and lasting awareness of the social issues around me, particularly the health disparities that too often hold people back. From that point on, I knew I wanted to dedicate my life to helping others not just survive but truly thrive. That early realization has become the foundation of my leadership, guiding me as I strive to uplift communities through mentorship, advocacy, and hands-on support.

In my administrative and support roles, I have come to firmly believe in the transformative power of mentorship. I see it as a way to nurture growth, build confidence, and develop the next generation of leaders. I actively promote critical thinking, independence, academic advancement, and financial stability because I know that meaningful, lasting change begins when individuals are equipped with knowledge, encouragement, and access to the resources they need to succeed.

My work is guided by the core values of inclusion, diversity, and compassion. I believe that personal growth is not just an individual pursuit—it is essential to building resilient, thriving communities. As a board member and leader, I am deeply honored to contribute to the mission of the Shiloh City of Peace Foundation. I am committed to helping create an environment where every person feels seen, valued, and empowered to reach their full potential.

I remain steadfast in my commitment to advancing the Foundation’s vision: touching lives and uplifting communities, one meaningful step at a time. As a dedicated advocate for community empowerment, I bring a strong, service-oriented leadership approach grounded in mentorship, inclusion, and a genuine desire to make a difference.
