

Angela M. Spence

Vice President Executive Chief of Operations & Consulting

Healthcare Educator, Armed Forces Disabled Veteran

Salutations, I am affectionately known as Ms. Anjiii and a native of the vibrant state of Massachusetts. I bring a wealth of experience having served in the United States Army as an Emergency Medical Technician for 25 years before my well-deserved retirement. Formerly, I resided in Radcliff, KY.

I have embraced a new chapter of my life dedicated to educating and improving the lives of others. As a former Residential Hall Coordinator at the University of Texas–Austin, I inspired and guided young minds in their personal and academic growth. Beyond my university role, I stand as an independent instructor certified in AHA CPR, AED, and First Aid, offering her expertise in both human and pet emergency care.

I am passionate about the well-being of both individuals and animals through my extended influence in promoting Pet CPR & First Aid through the Pawzs n Clawz Organization. Founded in 2008, the organization aims to educate pet parents and the public on respecting and providing essential care to pets/animals as a reflection of my ongoing dedication to promoting the rights and welfare of animals, advocating for their protection and well-being.

My faith-based lifestyle and professional pursuits form the foundation of my commitment to society; As a certified Kentucky & Texas State Public Notary, and Independent Wellness Developer/Consultant, I epitomize the intersection of expertise and compassion. My journey is further marked by my involvement in community organizations, such as the Shiloh City of Peace Foundation, as an executive board member since 2006, where I contribute my time and effort to create positive social impact through my unwavering commitment to public service, education, and community empowerment. As the Leader and Executive Director of Operations at GSK, since 2019, my role as both a Certified Medical Administrator Assistant (CMAA) and a Community Support Associate (CSA) focuses on guiding the organization's strategic initiatives, ensuring operational excellence, and fostering a supportive environment for our residents. I am deeply committed to advancing Shiloh City of Peace Foundation Inc. and Guardianship Services of Kentucky (GSK) mission and vision by integrating my expertise to address holistically the needs of our community, any residents or persons by promoting restorative and stable lifestyles through tailored programs and compassionate care. My leadership aims to empower individuals, helping them achieve their personal and communal goals.

My insatiable thirst for knowledge is a testament to my determination to uplift others. Currently, I am pursuing degrees in Psychology, Human Resource Management, and Paralegal Studies. My vision extends beyond academia as I am inspired to earn a Master of Science in Education – Allied Health Teaching and Leadership, followed by further studies in Health Behavior Sciences and Promotion, culminating in a Ph.D. in Social and Behavioral Health Sciences. My goal is to serve as a Health Educator and Promoter, advocating for policy development and working towards improved health outcomes for all. Rooted in the principle that a strong, interconnected community is the bedrock of individual success, we envision a holistic approach that transcends conventional boundaries to foster holistic well-being.
