

Wills and Probate Solicitor

London

£45,000 – 60,000 p/a

The firm is a well-established, multi-disciplined London firm with an excellent reputation locally having built strong ties to the community. They describe themselves as family friendly with a collegiate atmosphere, focusing on individual professional development. They pride themselves on providing high quality legal services in a caring and professional way to all our clients.

The Role

The firm has an expanding Private Client Department, developing rapidly and now requires dedicated and professional private client solicitors to join the team. The role will involve managing your own varied caseload and dealing directly with clients. A conscientious and compassionate attitude is essential, as are strong communication skills and the ability to work independently and as part of our busy team.

What are they looking for?
