Spotlight on the Teen-Image

Day by day the image of the teenager grows alarmingly worse in the adult press. He is presented as some kind of nitwit with long hair and guitar, wailing out some pent-up grief of a frustrated lover, or dancing in a manner befitting the African tribesmen. Drinking, and driving recklessly, vandalizing property, he never ceases to alarm the adult world - and to find daily exposure in the press. But we teen-agers know such is a grotesque caricature of the teen-age image, based on the unsavory behavior of some, just as easily found in the adult world. No matter how many idiots there are in the world, man claims to be an intelligent, respectable and ambitious being. And so do the majority of teen-agers. We are a noisy, frivolous and fun-loving lot; but we also have our serious moods, and we know where we are going.

We are immature, but we are forging ahead towards the maturity of manhood with utter seriousness. The hard work, the noble endeavors of youth are taken for granted and naturally never find mention in the press.

What is the mood of America's teens? We shall try, this year, to shed a bit of light on the true image of the teenager by doing a bit of soul-searching in our school. Do the majority of students take their studies seriously or are we wasting our time? Are our pastimes detrimental to our development and to our future, or do they simply offer relaxation at opportune moments? Are we bored with everything, or do we profit by our years of study? These and many similar questions truthfully answered will help us to determine the honest image of the teen-ager as seen by the teens.

My Answer

Many people are wondering how I, as John Rittling's closest friend, feel about his death. Before I answer this question, I wish to speak about the living John.

There were so many times we were together and so many things we did that it is hard to find one example of John's meaning to me that stands out from the others. But I recall one warm sunny day early in September. We had just returned home from the beach; a day full of touch football, sand wars and mischief. The telephone rang: "Hi, Frankie." - "Is this the big fat creep, Jonafin?" I asked. "Yeh! We got a big ten pound steak and no one here but me to eat it. How about coming over and giving me a hand?" My answer was very prompt. "I'll be over there as soon as I can; there had better be some left!" Ten minutes later I walked into his kitchen and found my friend and only one-half of the steak. I had a lot of eating to do to catch up to him. For dessert, we started talking about the upcoming football season. This is one of the ways I remember John.

I now realize more than ever that he had a great ability on the gridiron and even greater ability as a friend. The football team misses him and I miss him too. However, since he is now united with God in heaven, he can do more for us than he could when he was alive. It is God's will. That's all I can say now.

Stratford Festival

Yearly, the Magnificat, Buffalo's diocesan paper, sponsors a trip to the Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Ontario for diocesan high school students. Fifty-two boys from Cardinal Dougherty joined students from Archbishop Carroll, Bishop O'Hern, Immaculata Academy and Turner on the tour.

On a bright Tuesday morning the 28th of September, our group of merry-men embarked from school. We were ferried to Fort Erie by schoolbus. At 10 a.m. our train left Fort Erie for the town of Stratford. Our train ride of three hours gave us time for extra curricular activities. We found time to read, play cards, eat lunch and make many new friends. We arrived in the Festival Town at 1 p.m. and explored the area. At two, the curtain went up for Shakespeare's tragedy Julius Caesar. It was a fine presentation by professional actors. These men learn 3 plays simultaneously, and each play lasts approximately 3 hours. Not a line was missed. After the play a question and answer period was held by Marcus Antonius. Dinner was served to close to 1000 students in the Victorian Inn, a marumoth motel. Soon, it was time to depart. As our train rocked homeward the boys rested and socialized. A good time and a fine experience was enjoyed by all who went.

YOUR PAPER

Hey there! Yes YOU. Bet you don't know how lucky you are... you've got a pretty good thing going for you - and you can have loads of fun with it too. What? You own personal newspaper. Never thought you owned one did you? Well you do; and it's all yours. Lots of kids have hobbies - none of them own a newspaper though. What a ball they'd have with that! Talk about Junior achievement... this has it beat a mile. You can tell anybody and everybody about anything you like. You're in business; big business: the newspaper business. Lots of things to learn, but plenty of fun doing it too. And what a tremendous sense of achievement it gives a fellow. Write your own articles; lay out the paper the way you like to see a paper look. Take your own photos to illustrate your articles. Say, wouldn't that be fun. Don't wait to be asked; just take over.

BOOST DOUGHERTY!

Letters To The Editor

This year Cardinal Dougherty is lacking in school spirit. As you know school spirit plays a big part in the athletic program. So I would like to suggest that in the first issue you put out that you stress school spirit in an article and point out to the underclassmen that the teams need their support too.

Thank you,
Michael Monfuletho '66

Ed.: Thanks Mike. After all that has been said and done about boosting the school spirit, we feel that your letter is self-explanatory. We have had some wonderful turnouts at the games this year, but it could be better. Only, why the underclassmen? There are stragglers everywhere, just as we find good Dougherty men in every class.

Inquiring Reporter

QUESTION: How did you like the Stratford Festival?
TED KOBA '66

The theatre was beautiful, the actors tremendous, and the thing that threw me was how realistic the costumes were.
JOHN CALLAHAN '67

It was a very worthwhile trip, and the play was the very best I have ever seen.
MARK WINIARSKI

A nice trip and a great play. The actors were really good. It was fun and I would like to go again next year.

QUESTION: What do you think of the Student Council?
FRANK VALLONE '68
It seems like a pretty good organization in the school.
KEN KESSLER '66

The students should be regularly informed of the council's deliberations and plans by making use of the S.C. bulletin board near the cafeteria.

I think it did a fine job in promoting the yearbook fundraising drive.
THOMAS DANIELS '66

Alumni

It has been our policy to mail a copy of the SPOTLIGHT to all our graduates. They are entitled to know what goes on at their Alma Mater and how it is developing. It is our most ardent wish that we may continue to have one and all on our mailing list. But each year we are faced with a $500. deficit, and at the moment the number of graduates is greater than the actual number of students, and each year it will increase. Since we ask the students for a $1.00 contribution toward the school paper, it is therefore only logical that we solicit a similar subscription fee from our alumni, much as we hate to do so. We plan to double the size of the paper and to have nine issues. In the future we will only mail copies to our subscribers. So, please, won't you help us to keep in touch with you through the Spotlight by subscribing now?

My dear Father Poirier,

This was most wonderful of you and your class. When kids do things like this, we know our world is not too bad.

I need more checks like this if I am to finish the job, but this really helps.

I am most grateful to all of you.

Sincerely,
Msgr. F. M. Kelliher.

The Graduates of 1965 sent Msgr. Kelliher a check for $100 after the Boy's Home had been destroyed by fire. The following note was received in reply.

IT'S A TOUGH JOB.

Biology Transparencies

Since last year the Biology department of Dougherty has been teaching with the aid of seven hundred visual aid transparencies. Dougherty is the first school to have these visual aids, which cover every aspect of a high school biology course with even biochemistry emphasized in regular classes. These full color transparencies show the different structures of biology by their detailed drawing and very informative explanation. These transparencies are a great aid to both students and teachers. The students are found to be more interested in the course and more willing to do extra work after school. They also show more attention and have a keener curiosity to find out more about biology. The teachers think that these transparencies are a tremendous aid. Not only do they free the teacher from blackboard duty but they give him more time to teach and allow him to give more attention to various questions which may arise. All in all the transparencies are a great aid to education, and a great boost to Dougherty High.

Junior Achievement

On Tuesday, September twenty eighth, the student body was addressed by Mr. Gillen, a speaker for Junior Achievement. Mr. Gillen is presently employed by the Niagara Mohawk Company as a senior advisor for Junior Achievement at its establishment in Buffalo.

Junior Achievement was started in the Buffalo area in 1957. It was founded for the purpose of furnishing teenagers with an idea of how a corporate structure operates. Enrollment in Junior Achievement is open to all high school students with the exception of the Freshmen due to organizational limitation on membership. The activities begin in October with the organization of the companies. The various companies formed then sell stock to raise funds, so that each company can produce and sell its product. Then in March each company liquidates its stocks, that is they disband, returning to the stockholders their original investments and any profits that may have been earned over the six month period. The members of Junior Achievement hold a trade fair in Buffalo at which they display their products and can win eligibility to participate in national competition. The trade fair which is held in Buffalo is one of the largest in the country. Remember that no matter what you do in later life Junior Achievement can help you.

Summer Project

High School Data Processing

Three members of the C.D.H.S. faculty undertook a project this summer at Canisius College. Their topic involved the computer as a part of the high school. Mr. Gomlak, Fr. D'Don, and Mr. Hersey researched the area of data processing in the curriculum of the high school and provided some insight by using the data processing program at C.D.H.S. as primary evidence. The summary report consists of 70 pages and is available in the C.D.H.S. library.

The purpose of this project was to inform administrators, principals, and curriculum directors about the benefits which data processing could bring to the high school. The report provided a brief history of data processing with many interesting examples, followed by a series of objectives which render a need for data processing in the business curriculum. The need centers around the changing times and the proliferation of computers in all areas of business. There are over a hundred concerns in the Buffalo area which are presently using computers in their day to day billing, payrolls, and accounting systems. Sixty of these are listed in alphabetical order in the project.

Curriculum development in data processing has fundamental grounding in mathematics and computer logic. The three year program listed shows the ramification of this logic in programming and memory stored computers.

Administrative efficiency is also considered in the over all picture of data processing. Permanent records, guidance functions, scheduling and testing are handled in this last objective.

The project can then be viewed in a poly-dimensional scope. It is a descriptive commentary on the data processing center at C.D.H.S.; it is a presentation of a present need in all high school curricula for data processing; and it shows that the growth and ubiquitous usage of computers in business can also be used in administrative functions by far-sighted high school principals.

VARSITY CROSS-COUNTRY

Dougherty Record Hops

The weekly Dougherty Record Hops started off with a big bang on the seventeenth of September. A crowd of five hundred stormed the gym for a wild night of dancing. The first week featured the Original Venturas and recorded music played by the new disc jockeys Don Mazur and Tom Zebehazi.

The Avantis the second week, and the Rising Suns the third week drew crowds equal to that of the first week. In spite of inclement weather more than four hundred guys and gals showed up to enjoy the live music of three bands on the third week.

On October 15, WKBW's DAN NEAVERTH performed before more than six-hundred teenagers with a live band. On the 22, the Original Venturas returned for another great performance as did the Avantis on the 29th.

The upcoming schedule for the next two weeks features the Venturas Organ Combo on Nov. 5, and the MODS, formerly the Buffalo Beetles on the 12th.

Come one, come all to the fun-packed Dougherty Record Hops and have a rocking, socking good time.

Tom Zebehazi

From the Library

During the summer vacation the school library acquired audiovisual aids which will be of considerable service to the students seeking information on colleges. Already a large number of seniors have made profitable use of this equipment. It can also serve for the study of languages.

The earphones which accompany this new set allow three students to work at the same time without disturbing one another, or anyone else making use of the library at that moment.

Another important purchase was a large number of books pertaining to Data Processing. Many other books on this subject will be added in the future, since we are the only diocesan school to give this course.

It is hoped that everyone will take advantage of these fine facilities.

Impressive Win Over Ryan Marks Debut

The Cards' superior offense, aided by an air-tight defense, toppled the Ryan Rams 13-0 at Dougherty field. Norm Daley opened the scoring in the first quarter by scampering ten yards for a touchdown, followed by Lenny Ingrando's two yard plunge for the extra point. Halfback Ingrando capped a forty-five yard scoring drive by a one yard crash through the Ryan line in the fourth quarter for the second touchdown. Due to the hard-nose defense of the Cards throughout the game, the Rams could penetrate no further than Dougherty's thirty-yard line. Pacing the Cards' powerful running attack were Greg Rittling, 46 yards in 8 carries, Ed Dupont, 48 yards in 8 carries, and Ingrando, 87 yards in 17 carries for a towering 197 yards against 73 for the Rams.

Dougherty And Canisius Draw

The Dougherty Cardinals and the Canisius Crusaders battled to a 6-6 tie in the Cards' second game of the season and the Crusaders' first. With both teams scoreless in the first half, Dougherty tallied in the third quarter with senior Lenny Ingrando throwing a roll-out pass to sophomore halfback Greg Rittling. The tough defense of Dougherty kept Canisius scoreless until 1:45 remaining in the game as fullback Paul Di Rossi slipped in for the tying score. The Cards are now in first place with Timon and Duffy.

Dougherty Romps Over Turner, 27-0

Paced by Len Ingrando's 19 points the Dougherty Cards chalked up their second victory of the season. Ingrando scored his first TD on a one yard plunge following a 53 yard scoring drive. Lenny added the extra point to give the Cards a half time lead of 7-0. Junior Quarterback Tom Neeson got the Cards rolling in the third quarter by connecting with Den Boyco for a 23-yard scoring pass. Ingrando dove in from the one yard line to complete a somewhat spectacular day. Once again the defense, which has allowed only six points in three games deserves much credit in the victory.

Dougherty Squeezes By Fallon

Dougherty remained undefeated by edging Fallon 13-6. In the first quarter, Lenny Ingrando, Dougherty halfback, suffered a knee injury which sidelined him for the remainder of the game. The Cards scored first on a six-yard sweep by Norm Daley. Tom Neeson followed this up with the PAT. This was the only score in the hard hitting first half.

Sophomore star Greg Rittling, out with a bruised ankle last week, returned to open the third quarter by scoring what turned out to be the winning TD on a four yard run. Fallon rebounded with a 75-yard interception return by Greg Klauk, which ended the scoring in the game. Displaying a fine passing ability, Quarterback Tom Neeson completed five out of eleven passes for 110 yards to secure the Dougherty win.

DOUGHERTY VS. CANISIUS

DOUGHERTY!

Cross Country

Eight Dougherty harriers were among the 144 contestants who ran the 2.5 mile course at Delaware Park in the All-Catholic Cross-Country meet on November 4. Pat Janiga placed fifteenth as leader of the Dougherty team. The other representatives of our school placed as follows: 48 Mark Ryerson, 52 Ken Kessler, 62 Tom Cronin, 78 Charles Czarnacki, 82 Cliff Myers, 102 Fred Halt, 108 Cal Kemery. We congratulate these athletes for their fine performance, and hope they will encourage more of our boys to become determined and reputable competitors.

For some reason Dougherty has never excelled in this sport. This is rather disappointing since we seem always to be strong challengers in all other sports. Although the team appeared to possess a great amount of potential last year, it was lacking in depth to produce effective results. We were hoping that this year a larger number would enhance our chances of building a winning team. We have made progress in running times, but so have other schools. It would appear that more strenuous practice is required; mediocrity never produces good results. Every day an athlete must be just a little better than the preceding day. So let's be tops in '66.
