Ministry Highlights

One of the most important questions in life is this: “Where am I going?” If you don’t know where you are going, then how can you know the way? This was Thomas’ response to Jesus in John 14 when Jesus told the disciples he was preparing a place for them in heaven and would come back to take them there. Jesus said to them, “You know the way to the place where I am going.” Jesus knew where he was going and the steps it would take to get there, going to the way of the cross. But the disciples had no clue. That’s why they had to ask Jesus for the answer. Jesus said, “I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.” What he was saying was, “If you are going to heaven, then the only way there is through me, through faith in me, through the grace I will provide by my suffering, death, and resurrection, and through my advocacy for you on the day you come, that I truly knew you in this way.” This is really good news! We’re going to heaven. That’s where we’re ultimately going and Jesus is the way for us to get there.

But there are also other places we are going before we get there. We are also going to the day when we will stand before Jesus and give an account of everything we have done while in this body (2 Cor. 5:10). If we know that is where we are going, then we will want to follow the way that will get us there to stand before Jesus as good and faithful stewards of all he has entrusted to our care. As a church we want to provide some ways to help you get there so you will hear Jesus say, “Well done, good and faithful steward!” Katrina is here to help you discover your spiritual gifts so you can understand your part in the body of Christ (1 Cor. 12:12-20) and the good works he has prepared for you in advance for you to do (Eph. 2:10). Pastor Anthony and I are here to prepare you for your works of service and to help you to grow to full maturity in Christ, attaining the whole measure of the fullness of Christ (Eph. 4:11-16). Standing before Jesus is another place where we are going and He has given us the Church to help us get there so we can hear him say, “Well done!”

A more specific question I have for you is: Where are you going in 2025? How do you want your life to be different a year from now than it is today. Do you want to lose weight, learn a new skill, travel to a destination you’ve never been to before? Whatever it is, it all starts with today. Where are you going to do today toward that end? And how are you going to get there? What path will you take each day to ensure you arrive safely where you want to go? I wanted to ask this question because if you want to get closer to Jesus, grow in your faith, and live out your kingdom calling more, if that’s where you want to go in 2025 then how are you going to get there? Where are you going today toward that end and what path are you going to do to ensure that you will arrive where you want to be?

If this is where you want to go in 2025, then allow me to suggest a few things to help you along the way. Here are some positive steps to take...

Read the Word Every Day! Today’s Light Bible readings are a great place to start. You can get one at the church office. Being in the Word opens your heart and mind to the ways of God in what He is saying to you and how He is leading you in life to where you want to go. It will open your eyes of faith to everything going on around you every day.

Spend time in Prayer Every Day! Prayer is what will draw you closer to Jesus. It is meant to be a time of intimacy between you and him. You can ask him questions. You can ask him to move in your life and lead you closer to him. You can ask him to bless you and others. You can just sit and rest in him where He will refresh your soul.

Get connected to kingdom people and kingdom ministry! Katrina can help you with finding your spot and connection here at First Lutheran. Living out your faith every day in service to God and others will definitely bring you closer to where you want to go.

Make an appointment to come see me! I would love to talk to you about where God is leading you and what paths you might consider taking to get there. I would also love to pray with you and for you toward that end.

I believe 2025 is going to be a great year for us at First Lutheran. As we all take that next step toward where God is leading us, we will live to see lives transformed, people healed and made whole, relationships restored, and God’s kingdom come and his will being done, right here, right now! This is what happens whenever God leads his people to where they need to go. This is what is going to make 2025 a great year for us all. Can’t wait!

Growing Together: A Quarter of Connection & Community

I can’t help but reflect on the incredible journey we’ve had at First Lutheran Church. This season has been filled with opportunities to welcome, connect, and grow in faith together. One of the most rewarding aspects of serving as Assimilation Director is witnessing the joy of new faces becoming familiar ones. Whether it’s through our Faith 101 class, where new and long-time members explore what it means to be Lutheran, or through fellowship events like Fall Fest and Trunk or Treat, the heart of our church remains strong in its mission: to make everyone feel at home in Christ’s love. We also focused on deepening discipleship through studies like The Chosen and our youth program, One Eighty. Seeing young people engage with God’s word in a real and meaningful way reminds me why we do what we do. It’s not just about programs—it’s about people, and how God is shaping lives through our church family. Our service to the community has also been a highlight. From supporting Jackson House to rallying together for special projects, we continue to be the hands and feet of Jesus beyond our walls. Each act of service is a reminder that we are not just a congregation—we are a family on a mission. As we look ahead to 2025, I encourage each of you to find new ways to get involved. Whether you’ve been here for years or just walked through our doors, there’s a place for you at First Lutheran. If you are not sure where to start, consider taking the spiritual gifts assessment to see what direction you may want to start in. My prayer is that we continue to welcome, grow, and serve together, trusting that God is leading us into even greater things. Thank you for being part of this journey.

In Christ, Katrina, Assimilation Director

Enjoying this Journey by Jackie Johnson

Life is like a journey, and for many of us, our faith and that personal relationship with Jesus spills over into acts of service as the compass that guides us through. We use our gifts and talents to glorify God in the earth. Yet even the most dedicated of us can find ourselves in a season where the flame of faith feels dim, the once-refreshing streams of connection run dry, and the path seems uncertain. This is spiritual burnout, a quiet yet profound exhaustion that can leave us questioning everything we hold dear.

Spiritual burnout doesn't always announce itself with dramatic signs. Instead, it often creeps in through subtle shifts in our thoughts and emotions:

- Apathy: Once-meaningful practices like prayer, meditation, or worship feel like chores.
- Irritability or Frustration: Minor inconveniences during spiritual activities weigh heavily.
- Disconnection: A sense of distance from the divine, your faith community, or even yourself.
- Doubt and Cynicism: Questions that once inspired deeper understanding now fuel skepticism.

Take a moment to reflect. Have you noticed these feelings surfacing in your life? Could it be time to pause and reassess your journey? The sources of burnout can vary, but here are some common culprits: Overcommitment: Saying "yes" to every opportunity to serve can lead to exhaustion, leaving little space for personal renewal.

Perfectionism: The constant pressure to "get it right" can create a fear-based rather than love-based relationship. Neglected Self-Care: Spiritual growth isn't just about giving; it's also about receiving nourishment—physically, emotionally, and spiritually. Unrealistic Expectations: The journey of faith is not always mountaintop experiences; valleys and plateaus are part of the landscape.

Matthew 11:28-30 "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

Spiritual burnout is not a sign of failure but an invitation. It's a call to pause, to listen, and to realign. In the quiet moments, you may rediscover the beauty of the journey—not in its perfection but in its authenticity. So, as you read this, take a deep breath. Place your hand on your heart and ask yourself: How am I really doing? What do I need to let go of? What small step can I take today to nurture my spirit? Remember, the journey is not just about reaching the destination. It's about finding joy, meaning, and connection along the way. You are not alone on this path, and every step forward is a testament to your resilience and hope.

JOIN ME IN PRAYER: Loving Creator, in this moment of stillness, we come before You, weary and in need of Your gentle touch. You see the burdens we carry, the doubts we wrestle with, and the weariness that clouds our spirit. Help us to release the weight of overcommitment and the pressure of perfection. Remind us that Your love is not earned, but freely given.

Jackie Johnson
