

State's Cuffs

Our Cuffs

As you can see, these are in fact toy hand cuffs, but the state tried to pass them off as real cuffs to the judge with this photo. When the judge asked where the hand cuffs were, the state said they forgot them in the lockup in Sacramento. When we supplied the judge with the ones we had and he compared them to the states photo, it was determined that these were in fact toy cuffs and not real cuffs as the state tried to say. We caught the California department of social services in a flat out lie.
