Thank you for hosting To Love Your Neighbor, Know Your Neighbor, a moderated question and answer session featuring three panelists of different religions.

During the 1½-hour program, audience members submit written questions which are posed to the panel by the moderator, resulting in a lively, educational and insightful discussion. As the host, you select which three of CCIU's nine religions will be represented by the panelists. The panelists have been selected and trained by CCIU.

The event is free for both the host organization and attendees. We encourage you to partner with other organizations to broaden the reach of the event.

We also ask the host organization to promote and publicize the event to ensure a robust crowd (please note, out of respect for the time of our volunteer panelists, we ask the host to commit to an audience of at least 40 people). CCIU is happy to support your marketing efforts, including providing language and templates. Refreshments are provided by the host.
