

Amora Counseling, PLLC

Website Privacy Policy

This policy applies to information collected through the Amora Counseling, PLLC website. It is separate from our Notice of Privacy Practices (HIPAA), which governs the protected health information of clients. If you are a client seeking information about your clinical privacy rights, please refer to our Notice of Privacy Practices.

1. Overview

Amora Counseling, PLLC is committed to protecting the privacy of visitors to our website. This Website Privacy Policy describes what information we collect when you visit our site, how that information is used, and your rights regarding that information. By using this website, you agree to the practices described in this policy.

2. Information We Collect

Information you provide directly

When you submit our contact form, we collect the information you enter, which may include your name, email address, phone number, and the content of your message. This information is used solely to respond to your inquiry or schedule an appointment.

Please do not submit confidential, clinical, or sensitive health information through our contact form or by email. The contact form is intended for scheduling and general inquiries only. Email communications may not be secure – please do not send confidential or urgent clinical information by email unless otherwise instructed.

Information collected automatically

Our website is hosted through GoDaddy, which automatically collects certain data about website traffic and visitor behavior. This may include:

- IP address and general geographic location
- Browser type and operating system
- Pages visited and time spent on the site
- Referring website or search terms used to find our site
- Date and time of your visit

This data is collected in aggregate and is used to understand how visitors use our website so we can improve its content and functionality. It is not used to identify individual visitors.

3. Cookies

Our website may use cookies – small text files stored on your device – to support basic website functionality and analytics. GoDaddy's hosting platform may place cookies on your device as part of standard website operations. You may configure your browser to refuse cookies; however, doing so may affect the functionality of certain website features.

4. How We Use Your Information

Information collected through this website is used to:

- Respond to appointment requests and general inquiries
- Communicate with prospective and current clients
- Improve the content and functionality of our website
- Comply with applicable laws and regulations

We do not sell, rent, or share your personal information with third parties for marketing purposes.

5. Third-Party Services

Our website is hosted by GoDaddy (godaddy.com). GoDaddy may collect and process website traffic data in accordance with their own privacy policy, which can be reviewed at godaddy.com/legal/agreements/privacy-policy. We do not control GoDaddy's data practices and are not responsible for their privacy practices.

6. Data Security

We take reasonable measures to protect the information collected through this website. However, no method of transmission over the internet is completely secure. If you have concerns about transmitting sensitive information online, please contact us by phone instead.
