The California Country Club offers a natural haven for golf and relaxation in a location that is private, beautiful and convenient to the Los Angeles Metropolitan Area. Quality, affordability and location make this private country club a popular choice among Southland golfers. Because California Country Club was built in the 1950's, you will enjoy the aesthetic beauty of our mature tree-lined fairways. The par 72 course, with a total yardage of 6804, was designed by William Bell. The layout makes it enjoyable for the beginner, and overall yardage continues to be a challenge to even the most advanced golfer.

The California Country Club is an investor-owned private golf club (non-equity). Non-equity clubs are an increasingly popular private member club format for many reasons. One of the more popular reasons is that there are no "surprise" assessments and no responsibility for management of the Club. In an increasingly busy world, it is a real advantage to be able to go to your Club, play a leisurely round of golf and not have any of the financial or operational responsibilities to hinder your enjoyment.
