Director's Welcome Notes

Dear Flight Feathers Families, Friends, and Guests,
Welcome to our production of A Midsummer Night's Dream!

We are so grateful that you have joined us to celebrate the hard work, creativity, and dedication of our dancers. Throughout this season, our students have spent countless hours learning choreography, refining their technique, building friendships, and discovering how to tell a story through movement. Tonight is the culmination of that journey.

Inspired by Shakespeare's beloved comedy, our production follows a group of dreamers, fairies, and mischievous spirits as they navigate a world where magic blurs the line between reality and imagination. While honoring the heart of the original story, we have added our own artistic touches and interpretations to create a version that reflects the unique talents and personalities of our dancers.

One of the greatest joys of directing a production like this is watching dancers of all ages come together to create something larger than themselves. From our youngest performers taking the stage with excitement and wonder, to our graduating seniors sharing their final showcase season with us, every dancer has played an important role in bringing this enchanted forest to life.

A production of this scale would not be possible without the support of our incredible families, volunteers, teachers, backstage helpers, costume coordinators, and countless others who have generously given their time and energy throughout the season. Thank you for helping create opportunities for these young artists to grow and shine!

As the lights dim and the magic begins, we invite you to step into our enchanted forest, full of magic and beauty.

Enjoy the show!

With gratitude,
Mija Trimble, Artistic Director

Act I – A Midsummer Night's Dream

SYNOPSIS

On Midsummer's night, within a magical forest ruled by the fairy king and queen, love, mischief, and enchantment begin to intertwine.

SCENE 1 – OBERON'S KINGDOM

The fairies gather beneath the moonlight in the kingdom of King Oberon. Though the enchanted forest appears peaceful, tension simmers beneath the surface as Oberon and Queen Titania remain at odds over the possession of a changeling boy. Meanwhile, among the humans, unrequited love and longing rage.

SCENE 2 – THE MAGICAL FLOWER GARDEN

Deep within a garden of enchanted blooms, Puck discovers the magical flower, Love-in-Idleness, whose nectar causes anyone who receives it to fall in love with the first creature they see upon waking. At Oberon's command, Puck sets out to use the flower's magic to rekindle Titania's love for Oberon. Puck decides to use the flower to untangle the complicated affairs of the human lovers as well.

SCENE 3 – THE THEATER GROUP

A lively troupe of villagers arrives in the forest to rehearse a play for the upcoming wedding celebration. When Nick Bottom lingers behind to practice his verses alone, Puck seizes the opportunity for mischief, transforming the unsuspecting actor into a donkey.

SCENE 4 – HIPPOLYTA AND THE LOVERS' MIX-UPS

As Queen Hippolyta, the Amazon Queen, ventures into the forest on a hunt, an uneasy stillness settles over the woodland creatures. Nearby, four young lovers become ensnared in a web of confusion as affections shift, hearts are broken, and misunderstandings multiply. Puck's magical interference only deepens the chaos, turning the forest into a whirlwind of mistaken love and emotional turmoil.

SCENE 5 – TITANIA'S LAIR AND CONCLUSION

In her woodland bower, Titania falls asleep beneath the spell of Love-in-Idleness. Upon waking, she finds herself hopelessly in love with the transformed Bottom.

As the night reaches its magical peak, the tangled relationships among fairies, lovers, and actors begin to unravel. Eventually, harmony is restored and balance returned, the enchanted forest settles back to peace, and the Act comes to a joyful and magical close.

A magical world awakens as moonlight spills across the forest in our whimsical retelling of William Shakespeare's beloved tale, A Midsummer Night's Dream. Filled with mischievous fairies, tangled romances, spirited humor, and enchanting dance, this production transports audiences into a dreamlike realm where nothing is quite as it seems. Blending classical ballet with contemporary movement and theatrical storytelling, our dancers bring to life the wonder, chaos, and beauty of a midsummer evening where love, magic, and imagination reign supreme.

SUNDAY MATINEE – ACT 2

SENIOR SOLOISTS Grace Reed, Lily Hines, Matteo Migliore, Quinn Carter

Act 2 (Evening Shows) – Puck’s Dream Continues

Content that harmony has been restored to the forest, Puck drifts into a peaceful sleep. His adventure, however, is far from over. In a whimsical dream, he is revisited by the characters of A Midsummer Night’s Dream, leading audiences on one final magical journey through the enchanted forest.

Act 2 (Matinee Shows) – Senior Showcase

We are proud to present our seven graduating seniors as they take the stage for their Senior Showcase. Through these special solo performances, they celebrate their dedication, artistry, and growth as they close this exciting chapter and look ahead to the future.

Saturday Matinee Soloists: Kat Boiko, Meg Hutchinson, Yuliia Boiko

Sunday Matinee Soloists: Grace Reed, Lily Hines, Matteo Migliore, Quinn Carter
