CHESTER READING RETREAT

A READING RETREAT BY NOVEL RETREATS

hello, dear reader

Thank you for your order. My name is Ashleigh, and I'm excited to welcome you to your reading retreat at Crabwall Manor! If you have any questions, please email me: info@novelretreats.com.

“Do something nice for yourself today. Find some quiet, sit in stillness, breathe. Put your problems on pause. You deserve a break.”

— AKIROQ BROST

getting there

On arrival, please enter the hotel through the main reception doors.
Ask the receptionist to direct you to the Lyle Suite.

Don't forget to bring:

Your book (or books!)

Optional, weather depending:

A cosy blanket, sunscreen, a hat, a picnic blanket, or anything else you'd like for comfort.

Tea and coffee will be available at regular intervals throughout the day.

your afternoon

welcome

We'll begin with a low-pressure hello and a quick peek at what everyone's reading.
(This is not mandatory)

afternoon tea

Enjoy a delicious spread of sweet and savoury treats, plus tea or coffee, before you settle in with your book.

read, relax, retreat

The rest of the afternoon is yours. Curl up in your chair, sip your tea, and enjoy a few hours of uninterrupted reading.

one last chapter

At around 3:30, I'll let you know the afternoon is drawing to a close. Stretch, pour one last cuppa, finish a few final pages, or chat with your fellow readers.

farewell

Sadly, 4:00 PM will arrive all too soon. I hope you leave feeling relaxed and rested, perhaps with a new friend or two.

TIP: Put your phone in aeroplane mode for a notification-free day.

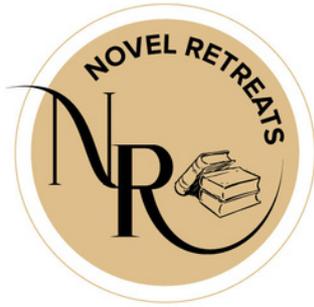

reading comfortably

Curl up indoors on a comfy lounge chair, relax on the terrace, stretch out on a picnic blanket on the lawn, or find a peaceful spot among the trees.

Please note that all spaces outside our private room are reserved for hotel guests and are not included as part of the retreat.

about us

At Novel Retreats, our goal is to provide the perfect escape for book lovers seeking a peaceful and uninterrupted reading experience.

All our reading retreats are thoughtfully designed to offer you a tranquil space where you can immerse yourself in your favourite books, away from the demands of everyday life.

See you soon.

Until then, happy reading!

Ashleigh
