PACK & DASH Travel

PEOPLE DON'T TELL YOU THIS STUFF!

Booking your flights separately? Here's what you need to know!

YOUR NEXT FLIGHT WON'T WAIT FOR YOU!

Found a great airfare and decided to book your next flight separately? It can be a smart way to save money, but it's important to understand that the connection is on you.

SEPARATE TICKETS, SEPARATE RESPONSIBILITY

If your first flight is delayed and you miss your separately booked connection, the next airline generally isn't responsible for getting you onto another flight for free. You could find yourself paying for a new ticket.

DEPARTURE TIME ISN'T BOARDING TIME

You need to be at the gate before boarding closes. Airlines don't wait for late passengers, and once they close the door, the flight leaves without you.

ALLOW TIME FOR THE UNEXPECTED

If you're arriving internationally, you may need to clear immigration, collect your baggage, go through customs, recheck your luggage and pass through security before your next flight.

MY HOT TIP!

BE AT THE GATE — NOT JUST AT THE AIRPORT!

Give yourself plenty of time, check local arrival times and include enough connection time to handle the unexpected. It's always better to have time to spare than to watch your next flight leave without you! ♡

SAME ADVENTURE. BRIGHTER JOURNEYS. ♡

Melinda ♡ | Pack and Dash Travel | @pack_and_dash_travel | @PackandDashTravel | packanddashtravel.com