

Flemington Mall Keeps Growing

RIBBON CUTTING by Dunham's president Alan Plapinger and his wife (in doorway) accompanied similar shops by (left to right) Mayor-elect Harriet Wolfson of Raritan Township, Mayor John Bush of Flemington and Assemblyman Walter Foran. The glass doors were then rolled back and the crowd rushed in to begin a pre-Thanksgiving buying spree.

PICKWICK VILLAGE Gift Shop offers cards, gifts, social and commercial printing and a very wide selection tastefully displayed to make selecting what's right simple and convenient. Vic Barna is the proprietor.

THE DEPOT prepares its customers for the train station, the bus stop, the airline terminal and other "get away" places with its wide selection of luggage, handbags, leather goods and housewares. The store entrance is fashioned after a railroad car and sections are designated by special names. John Goldstein is the owner and Robbin Jones is the manager.

OLD FASHIONED ice cream parlour lives up to its name, with a decor reminiscent of the early part of this century. The proprietors, Gary and Bruce Goldenberg, say their ice cream dishes and other refreshments and snacks will be aimed at pleasing people who enjoy the slower pace and quiet atmosphere they promote.
