

ORGANIZED OR UNORGANIZED, the pond behind the football field at Hunterdon Central High School is frequently the scene of student ice hockey games. Ice hockey has become a part of the school's physical education program, with students playing during gym classes. But the most use of the pond comes after school, when area youths organized their own form of "sandlot" hockey. School officials are careful to warn students to check the depth of the ice and exercise caution when using the pond.
