

I've been asked why we refer to ourselves as Our Family of Faith aka First Presbyterian Church.

Parenthetically, the question comes mostly from the curious to slandering to ignorant to hating... Catch the drift?

Anyway, technically, now and forever, we are First Presbyterian Church. So send your donations to First Presbyterian Church if you care about Jesus by the book as enlightened by the Holy Spirit who never contradicts Jesus by the book. We're not toning down or watering down and don't agree with the last person that we've talked to like...

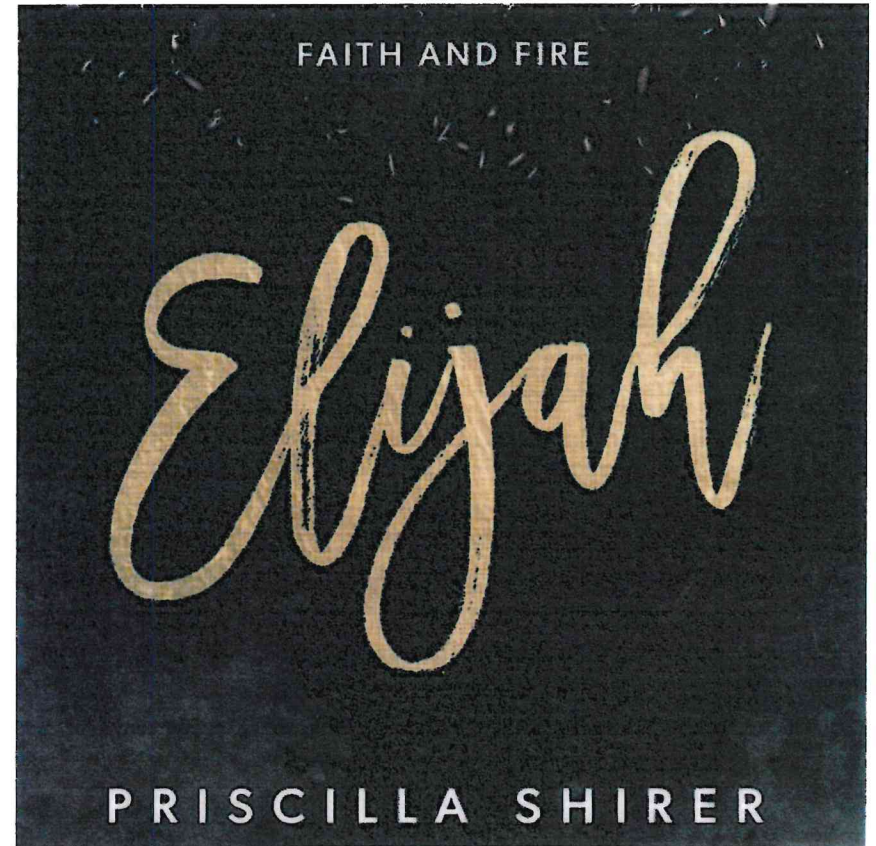

However, to anyone under, oh, 105 years of age, "Presbyterian" sounds like a variant of Covid; and considering most churches bent over for Caesar during...rather than keeping the big ten...

It's like Methodist, Lutheran, Baptist, Pentecostal, Charismatic, Republican, Democrat, Catholic, conservative, liberal, progressive, traditional, blah, blah, blah...and more blah, blah, blah...

Those words mean next to nothing to people anymore; and if they do, it's usually with a pejorative connotation.

So while we'll always be First Presbyterian Church on the title and checkbook and official stuff, we like to think of ourselves as a part of His and Our Family of Faith on the Corner of Lincoln and Main.

And as bikers like to say, if I have to explain that to you, you wouldn't understand anyway...like the people that hate us for taking the church away from them and giving it back to Jesus.
