for current service times.

A Vortel Out-of-Season

I am away from the JCMI community during the Summer months, and will return to the pulpit in September. I earnestly hope the members of Temple family— not to mention, your own family and friends— are well and safe, and that everyone will be back together at the Synagogue long before our new program and activity year at Summer’s end.

In the interim, I offer a schtikeleh Toyre (“a little slice of Torah”) to see the Congregational family through my hiatus months.

One of the most interesting Torah narratives coming up this Summer (which we will explore in next year’s LifeLong Learning session, “Torah Out of Season”) is the episode of Bil’am, the Mesopotamian prophet who came halfway across the world to “read God into the record” for the nations neighboring Israel. The best-known aspect of the story is Bil’am’s talking donkey: she was astute enough to bow before the angel of wrath blocking the road, whom the great prophet didn’t even discern as being there. However, that humorous detail is completely incidental to Bil’am’s ensuing poetic pronouncements, which are an enduring source of spiritual meaning.

Numbers 23:9 -

וּבְגוֹיִם לֹא יִתְחַשֵּׁב הֵן-עַם לְבָדָד יִשָּׁפֵן
Behold, this is a people dwelling apart, not reckoned among the other nations.

Mosheh Chayim Epstein of Sudilkov (1725?-1800) taught: “I paraphrase this verse as ‘he shall reckon with the other nations.’ The secret of the survival of our People of Israel, while scattered among the other nations, lies in the fact that we have always gone our own way, and lived our own lives, regardless of what other nations have to say about us— whether in praise or scorn.”

Numbers 23:10 -

תָּמַת נַפְשִׁי מוֹת יִשְׂרָאֵל וַתְּהִי אַחֲרִיתִי כְּמֵהוּ
May my soul die the death of the upright; may my end be like that of Israel!

One of the Hasidim of Shalom Roqei’ach of Belz (1820?-1894) expressed his fervent desire to die as a good Jew. To his surprise, the Rabbi said: “Pardon me, my friend, but that is as unworthy as the aspiration of the wicked prophet Bil’am to ‘die the death of the upright.’ Better that you should desire to live your life as a good Jew— in which case your eventually dying as a good Jew will take care of itself.”

The Rabbi is at your disposal, during his weekend stay on-Island, for counseling; hospital or shut-in visits; or Hebrew or guitar lessons— as well as accessible any time during the week by telephone 954-798-6037 or e-mail RabbiMarkGross@gmail.com.

JCFMI Schedule of Services

May/June, 2020 – Iyyar/Sivvan/Tammuz, 5780

As of publication, in the interests of public safety we are maintaining our suspension of public worship at the Synagogue. We look forward to gathering together again in our Temple home very soon, and will immediately notify our members at such point in the near future that The Centers for Disease Control announce the virus pandemic has subsided sufficiently for group assemblies once more to be safe.

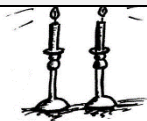

Meanwhile we continue our Congregational programs of prayer and study, live-streaming in view of the quarantine, and invite everyone to join us— however virtually— for our on-line gatherings in cyberspace. Visit our website, <https://marcojcmi.com>:

*to install the free “Zoom” telecom program (or smartphone app);
to secure Zoom log-in information and password for our programs and activities;
and to download a copy of our “Readers Digest Siddur for Distance-Davvening” and of each week’s Saturday morning Torah-study page.*

Qabbalat Shabbat Worship - Friday evenings - 7:30.

Welcome the Queen of Days with worship together, live-streamed on our designated Zoom channel [per the box above, see the JCFMI website for details]. With Rabbi Gross on seasonal hiatus through the end of August, our worship service will be conducted by Cantorial Soloist Hari Jacobsen, who once we are all back home together will be joined on the bimah by members of the Congregation volunteering to lead us in prayer.

Home Shabbat Candle-Lighting Times – 18 minutes before sunset on Marco Island

May 01 - 7:40	May 22 - 7:51	June 12 - 8:01
May 08 - 7:44	May 29 - 7:55	June 19 - 8:03
May 15 - 7:47	June 05 - 7:58	June 26 - 8:04

Portion-of-the-Week Torah Study - Saturday mornings, through May 23 - 9:30.

Rabbi Gross will continue, post-season, to host live-streamed Shabbat morning Torah study via Zoom. Visit the JCFMI website [per the box above] for log-in details, and to download and print out beforehand each week’s text sheet under discussion.

For personal parashah study at home, here are text assignments during this period:

June 27 - Qorach	Numbers 16:1-18:32	I Samuel 11:14-12:22.

🎵 NOTES FROM OUR CANTORIAL SOLOIST 🎵

Who would've think things would be as they are today? Of all things to share with the entire world? A pandemic! While humbling, it's an extraordinary opportunity to practice (or, if necessary, to establish and practice) positive thinking. And it truly is a choice. Granted, for some of us, positive thinking comes more readily than to others. But, regardless, all too often it does not come on its own.

Twice this summer we will read in the book of Deuteronomy of God's extraordinary gift to us; choice. In fact, it spells out that God has set before us a blessing and a curse; to choose life (the blessing) that we and our children may live. While, clearly, we do not always have that particular choice, we do have many choices and they come chronically.

Thank you, God, for the gift of choice.

Right now, however, many of our choices are very mundane. How long do we need to keep large social distances? How long do we keep so many businesses closed? What does it take to be safe? For our family and friends to be safe? For everyone to be safe?

But, just as described in the Torah, those choices will, in turn, both affect us and our children (our children's children, our children's children's children ...) – and even whether we and they will live. It couldn't be more relevant if it had to be. Dang! Sometimes the timeliness of the Torah is a real bummer?

But, also as in the Torah, there are many instances where individuals are saved.

Of course, there's Noah from the flood; Moses in the bulrushes; Isaac on Mount Moriah; Joseph from his brothers.... The list is almost endless. There are far more blessings than curses; some given to us directly, and some as the result of the gift of choice.

May we work hard and take advantage of God's precious gift of "choice", and may we recognize and appreciate the saving moments we encounter not only in the Torah, but that we encounter every day.

And may we each stay safe.

VICE PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

This is a very special time in our lives. We must follow the advice of those who are leading the campaign against this dangerous virus. Wear your mask, observe six feet distance and wash your hands frequently.

Zoom has entered our lives. It has enabled us to attend Friday evening Shabbat Services conducted by Rabbi Gross through April 24, 2020. Cantorial Soloist Hari Jacobsen and Roger Blau will conduct Shabbat Services beginning May 1.

Rabbi will continue Torah Study on Saturday mornings through May 23rd. The program is interesting and I encourage our Congregants to attend, again by Zoom. The office will supply the ID and Password if you do not have same.

Next month we hope that we will be able to return to our second home, the Jewish Congregation of Marco Island!!

Stay well!
Sue R. Baum
President

“Jewish Bedtime Stories” Continue Through May 19

Rabbi Gross’s celebrations of Jewish legends and folklore have been so well received, that we are carrying forth the midweek merriment a little longer. Join the Rabbi at 7:30 every Tuesday evening through the middle of May, live-streaming via Zoom. Visit www.marcojcmi.com for log-in details, and to download the Zoom telecom program, if you don’t already have it.

For “Jewish Bedtime Stories” attendees who enjoyed last month’s session with the beloved Yiddish folk-character Simple Schmerel, the answer to his compelling existential question is: “yes, there will be cookies” (although just now, during our distance-storytelling, you’ll have to bring them yourself!).

All services are currently being held via Zoom – please check the website for login information. When services resume in-house, you will be notified via our robo-calling service.

Yahrtseit Notices

Our policy at JCMI is to offer members the choice of recording Yahrtseit dates in accordance with the English or Hebrew calendars.

If members choose to remember loved ones on their Yahrtseit using the English date of death, the Yahrtseit will be observed each year on the Friday Evening of the week in which that English date occurs.

If the Hebrew date is chosen, the Hebrew date falls on a different English date each year. The Yahrtseit will be observed each year on the Friday evening of the week when that Hebrew date occurs.

Please inform the office as to which date you observe the Yahrtseit of your loved one so that it can be properly recorded in our records. I hope this clarified and eliminates confusion about our policy.
