

July 19 - Karen Whelan, The Soulution

Therapist: At SOULution Therapy, we envision a world where individuals are deeply connected with their true selves, free from the unconscious programs and Karmic patterns that limit their potential. We believe in the power of self-love and the transformative journey of exploring one's soul landscape to illuminate and heal negative imprints. Our mission is to guide clients towards embodying their highest future possible self through holistic, intuitive, and therapeutic practices.

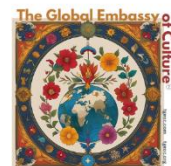

To provide a safe and nurturing space for profound personal growth and spiritual transformation. We are dedicated to supporting individuals on their journey to self-discovery and empowerment. We work with clients who are serious about their transformation and who are ready for advance methods. We offer on line zoom sessions and in person VIP session - 3 or 6 month containers. We differ from other coaching and therapy providers because we work together bridging our expert skills of Psychotherapy, Energy Master, Medical Healer, Dowser, Medicine Shamanic and our teachings from our Masters in Spirituality. These combined skills and knowledge allow us to offer our clients a deeply unique encountering in their work with us - one that our clients find “profound, unlike anything they have expected or experienced”

December 20 - Empowering Communities Through Action: Unlocking $1 Trillion for Public Benefit with Henry Gage, Jr. The U.S. Constitution was founded on the principles of law, order, trust, and public benefit, establishing a framework for stability and opportunity. Yet today, trust is broken—not just at the national level, but within communities, leaving many searching for a way forward.

The corporations that have broken Earth's systems do not have a solution. The politicians they have purchased do not have a solution. And too often, communities left without guidance fall into destructive cycles—wasting resources, damaging public benefit, and unraveling their own foundations.

At Voices for Progress, we recognize that trust cannot be assumed—it must be rebuilt through action. The challenge is not just about bringing people together—it's about maintaining momentum. Too often, communities organize, hold meetings, set visions, and make decisions—but by the time the next meeting arrives, momentum is lost. Without an informed and harmonized plan that translates decisions into clear action steps, projects stall. This cycle is why 70% of initiatives fail to achieve their potential.

This is the core idea behind “We the People ... in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.” It is a call to action, not just a statement of ideals.

To transform community efforts into lasting impact, we have built a platform specifically designed to support community-driven task management. Our system integrates mentor-assisted planning (Wisdom Circles), milestone tracking, and interactive task execution, ensuring that progress is structured, measurable, and sustained. We empower community leaders to organize large-scale projects, one task at a time, delivered to participants through a website, smartphone, flip phone, or even a pager—ensuring accessibility for all.

Most importantly, our model reshapes how public benefit is shared. Instead of concentrating value in the hands of a few, our transaction model ensures that accumulated public benefit is equitably distributed, directing resources back into the communities that generate them.

This is more than just a platform—it's a movement to restore trust, sustain momentum, and ensure that community-led efforts translate into real, lasting change.
