Sample Press Release:

After a 2-year hiatus due to the pandemic, dancers from across Canada were excited to once again participate at the 2022 IDO World Tap Championship, held in Zagreb, Croatia where Canada won several gold, silver, and bronze medals. Canadian tap dancers are excited to once again be a part of the 2023 Canadian National Tap Team. Several local dancers auditioned and have been accepted to be a part of the largest and most prestigious dance team in all of Canada, Team Canada Dance, which will attend the IDO World Tap Dance Championships in Riesa, Germany from September 25-29, 2023. There are two groups of dancers representing Canada, one from the east (ON), and one from the west (includes dancers from MB, AB, SK, BC) – but we are all ONE TEAM!

The International Dance Organization (IDO) has over 250,000 member dancers from 6 continents. This exciting world championship is considered the “Olympics of Dance”, with only one Gold, Silver, and Bronze medal awarded for each division. The top three medalists stand proudly on the podium as their flags are raised and the winning National Anthem is played. It is incredibly emotional to see their hard work rewarded in such a fashion!

The National Director of Team Canada Dance, Bonnie Dyer, comments “Canada has been quite successful in all dance disciplines at the World Championships and this is mainly due to the high standards of training that our local studios offer”. She continues, “It is also great to see the ‘best of the best’ in Canada, dancers from various studios, towns and provinces coming together onto one team with one goal – to represent Canada!”

*Selected to represent Canada this year is put dancer name(s) here and where they train

While many people are relaxing this summer, our very talented youth gladly spend their holidays and weekends to train for this exciting opportunity. Despite support from other countries around the globe for their dancers, here in Canada there is no government assistance for Team Canada Dance, so each member must raise their own funds to attend the competitions.

You can list your fundraising activities and how the public can help

The IDO is a member of The Association for International Sport for All (TAFISA) and also a contracted partner of EUSA that is associative partner with FISU. On the website www.ido-dance.com you will find more information on Dance Sport. IDO Vice-President and Sport Director Fiona Johnson-Kocjancic states that the “International Dance Organization promotes dancers as the true athletes that they are. In many of the European countries dance is considered a sport”. The IDO National member organizations that are recognized by the National Olympic Committees in Europe receive yearly money grants for every solo and duo/couple who place Gold, Silver and Bronze in the Adult categories at the IDO World Championships. Dancers are also entitled to governmental money grants, scholarships, paid health insurance, physiotherapists, and body conditioning classes. It is unfortunate that Canada still does not recognize our dancers as the athletes they are when they compete at world level competitions. These athletes train for many hours per day, some up to 7 days a week! Our dancers must fundraise and seek sponsorship on their own to cover the cost to attend these competitions.

We hope that you will help support these young people that will proudly represent your community as well as Canada at the World Championships. They are true ambassadors!
