Booking Conditions – Please read carefully

- Children can only be accepted for a whole week, i.e. arriving on the first day and not leaving until the last day.
- The course must have been recommended as a suitable form of therapy for your child by a speech and language therapist.
- A.T.E./ Speech and Language Therapists will do all in its power to deliver the 'Talking out' programme as set out. However, we do reserve the right to cancel or alter the course if circumstances beyond our control make this unavoidable. Parents would be informed at once of any such changes.
- It is imperative that A.T.E./Speech and language therapists are told at application stage about any disabilities, social or behavioural problems which could cause difficulties for the child and / or other children at the 'Talking out' course. A.T.E/ Speech and language therapists will make every effort to cater for all children. However A.T.E / Speech and language therapists reserve the right not to accept children we do not think we can support properly.
- A.T.E/ Speech and language therapists also reserves the right to ask that parents remove a child if his / her behaviour is putting other children, staff or him/her self at risk. In such cases collection from the centre would be the responsibility of, and at the expense of the parent or guardian who signed the application. It is in nobody's interest (least of all the child's) to send someone to the 'Talking out' course who is likely to be unacceptably disruptive or aggressive.
