PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

Probably one of the biggest talking points over the last month has been the Bypass closure and the resultant extra amount of traffic passing through our village, particularly at weekends when there were full closures rather than the weekday, one direction only closure. We will deliberately avoid here the subject of Facebook and some of the comments made on this portal and concentrate on the facts revealed by the MVAS (Mobile Vehicle Activated Sign) which was located on the Fenny Road by Tyrells Manor monitoring the traffic travelling towards Leighton Buzzard whilst the Southbound Bypass closure was in force. Over a 20 day period from the 19th September through to the 9th October the MVAS counted 159,393 vehicles which averages out at 7,969 vehicles per day. The last MVAS results in July pre-bypass closure, over a 26 day period counted a total of 46,774 vehicles an average of only 1,799 vehicles per day. So effectively the traffic passing through Stoke Hammond whilst the bypass was closed increased by nearly 450%. For example, during the last week of the closure the daily counts were hovering around 8500 - 9000 vehicles but on the Monday the day the bypass reopened it fell to well below 2500. One should remember all these vehicle counts are in one direction only. It was also not a surprise that as a result of all this extra but slower moving traffic that the average recorded speed fell below the normal sub 35mph figure to a more acceptable 27.4mph. Let's hope this new Bypass surface is superior to the past and barring any major incidents we will now have many years without our village having to suffer these extremes of traffic levels.

Whilst on the subject of carriageway repairs/general highway maintenance it's quite amazing as to the difference in response speed for one reported problem to another. For example, it took well over a month despite much chasing by your PC for AVDC to cut back the tree which was obscuring the Belisha Beacon and light at the pedestrian crossing. Conversely, when the failing footpath to the bridge across the brook between Manor Close and Bragenham Side was reported via the 'Fix My Street' website, an engineer was out the following day to access and mark out the affected area, and the very next day new tarmac was laid to correct the problem – so 48 hours from reporting to being fixed! Does that mean 'Fix My Street' is more effective, probably not but certainly a much easier method by which to report highway issues, or was it the fact that when the report was made it included a photograph and stated this had the potential to be a 'Serious Trip Hazard.' Perhaps the thought of possible litigation springs the authorities into action?

As for the PC Meeting held on Tuesday 2nd October it was rather a quiet affair with only three members of the public in attendance and with once again and rather disappointingly no representation from either of our AVDC District Councillors or our BCC Councillor. There was only one minor planning application 18/02634/APP which was for retrospective permission for the retention of two flats at Old Dairy Farm House, Orchard Mill Lane. Given these flats were built/converted in 2004 the PC resolved to remain neutral and make no comment. Other matters discussed included as to whether the PC should continue to cover the cost of distributing the SH News to Newton Leys South (NLS) – currently some 170 homes but to increase by a further 176. Perhaps residents of Newton Leys South could contact the PC via our clerk to let us know if they do indeed value receiving the SH News – If it is not read or of any interest to NLS then there would seem little point in continuing its distribution to NLS. Perhaps we will learn more if we are able to arrange a PC surgery in NLS.

The PC have now received a vision plan from their appointed architect for the new land off Bragenham Side. This plan has been prepared with consideration for the results of the questionnaire circulated earlier this year and once reviewed by the PC working group it would be hoped to present this to you in the very near future.

The new homes on what was known as The Slad but to be named Harrup Close in memory of the late John Harrup BEM are now up for sale, but more interestingly the PC has now received a new planning application 18/03052/APP which aside from relating to some modifications to the elevations for some of the garages, is now seeking permission for brick built entrance gate pillars, which most of us would have observed as already having been built. The question of the entrance road width to this development has previously been raised with the AVDC planning enforcement department. This new application will be discussed at the November PC meeting which is to be held at 7.30pm on Tuesday 6th November. Usual venue of the Community Centre, Bragenham Side. As always, all are welcome to attend.

BREXIT

Actually, the word has been banned in our house. If anything comes on the radio off it goes. There has even been the suggestion of defenestration of the appliance but then her indoors wouldn't be able to listen to the Archers.

Just how long does it take? Going through some of my earlier GOM notes:

December 2009 - “UKIP won’t oppose the Tories if they promise a referendum. Cameron would not create a manifesto on that basis but why shouldn’t he promise a referendum – Because he thinks he will lose. If he loses he won’t represent the majority of people – how can he stand for parliament?” Now let me think what did happen. Hmm.”

May 2014 - “Forthcoming general election. There is still the promise of a referendum from the Conservatives (if they win).”

December 2015 - “It may lead to the promised referendum being in my lifetime.”

And on 23rd June 2016 we voted to leave the EU.

So, what have “they” been talking about for two years and do our Parliamentary representatives understand things any better than you or I? I caught a line on the radio last week that a translator for Brexitese had been appointed to the Houses of Parliament library so perhaps they don’t. Additionally, it appears there are “teams of negotiators” behind the scenes so presumably they are the ones who do the work and hopefully know what they are talking about.

Can anyone explain the Chequers deal, the backstop, the Insurance the transition period or indeed what the EU want (apart from lots of our money). There is lots of talk in the media quoting these and lots more phrases. In fact there is lots of talk but very little explanation. Perhaps they don't understand or are unable to speak "layman's speak".

I understood the question on the 2016 referendum ballot paper. I am concerned that if we end up with a second referendum I, along with 90% of other voters, will not.

STOKE HAMMOND BOOK CLUB

'THE CHILDREN ACT' by Ian McEwan.

This month's book was again, very different. The title refers to the Children Act of 1989 and introduces us to the lead character, a High Court Judge, Fiona Maye, who is called upon to try a case where a youth, together with his parents, is refusing treatment which could save his life basing his decision on religious grounds. Meanwhile the Judge, a complex woman, has emotional problems of her own in dealing with her husband's infidelity. This comparatively short book (just over 200 pages) engages the reader in Fiona's uncertainties, like the decision to make an unorthodox visit to the boy in hospital, which has a deep impact on her.

Personally, I appreciated the research and attention to detail regarding the legal intricacies and description of the courts and their procedures. All the group seem to have enjoyed the book for a variety of reasons. Some said they loved it, best book they have read for a long time, well researched etc. but one or two commented that the problems with the husband were superfluous to the story line although the characters evoked their sympathy and understanding along the way. On the whole it was thought to be interesting and different and even 'hard to put down'. They would be happy to have another 'Ian McEwan' amongst the Club's future reads. The Children Act has been made into a film starring Emma Thompson and some of the group are going to see the film to discover whether it is a true interpretation and also whether they enjoy it as much as the book.

Next month's read is 'The Widow's Tale' by Mick Jackson.

Grow Together Shine Forever

'Let your light shine' Matthew 5:16

Stoke Hammond Parish News Letter - October 2018

It's hard to believe that it is nearly half term as we have been very busy since September. We have been to church this term to celebrate Harvest Festival and we also now have the three churches in our community leading a weekly assembly here at school, which is proving to be very popular.

Do you have a child ready to start school in September 2019?

We have held one of our two Open Mornings for prospective parents of children starting school in September 2019 and it was great to see such interest in our school. We do have space for up to 45 children in Foundation Stage so if you know of anyone locally that has a child ready to start school in September 2019, we do have another Open Morning on Tuesday 6th November. Please feel free to drop in between 9:30am and 12.00pm for a guided tour of our school by our existing pupils and informal meeting with the Headteacher.

We do have spaces in some other year groups too, so it's always worth checking with us if you are interested in securing a place at our excellent school.

You can apply online for a school place from the 5th November 2018. Please visit the Buckinghamshire County Council website www.buckscc.gov.uk to complete an online application. Application deadline is 3.00pm the 15th January 2019.

Church News

Review:

Community Breakfast: It was a little quieter than usual, but appetites were healthy and kept us busy! We are grateful to our sponsors: Kuttii from the Village stores who donates bread and eggs, and Tim of Pollards butchers in Newton Longville, who gives us a discount off sausages and bacon. Many thanks to you both.

Harvest festival & lunch: St Luke's harvest festival service was enjoyed by all, thanks to the beautiful flowers decorating the church. Thank you to all who helped, especially to Alex of Carolanne flowers in Bletchley, who spent many hours in the freezing cold church! Also this year we were privileged to have a magnificent harvest loaf baked by local schoolboy amateur baker Toby Pollington. Special thanks to Toby for his sterling work! (see photo). After being displayed at the harvest service, the loaf was given to the children of Buttons preschool who'd visited the church the previous Friday with their harvest donations in a week where they'd learned about harvest and sharing. The children had a tour of the church then sang songs in the choir stalls – a delight to hear! The harvest festival was followed by the harvest lunch which had to be moved to a bigger venue in the Community Centre at the last minute. The buffet was a delicious meal and astoundingly good value. Thanks to all who helped out with donations, catering and setting or tidying up, especially Tracie and Valerie. Afterwards, harvest produce was given to Mr & Mrs Sturgess of the MK Lions food cupboard in Bletchley.

St Luke's Gift Day: In spite of - or perhaps because of – the delightful weather, there was a low turnout for the gift day, but those who were there enjoyed delicious home-made cakes and soup. There's still time to hand in your envelope donation to those places in your letter if you simply forgot!

Special services:

Café church: As we go to press, Café church (28th Oct) has yet to take place, but I'm sure it will have been a great success! A review will follow next month.

All Souls Benefice service: Will be held Sun 4th Nov at 6pm at St Mary's Church, Little Brickhill. If you'd like prayers said for a loved one who has died (either recently or in the past) or would like to attend the service, please contact the Rector.

Remembrance day service: We hope you'll join us for this year's service in the church at 10.45am on Sunday 11th November. This year is a special commemoration, during which we will observe the usual two minutes silence.

Forthcoming events:

Prayer meetings: We are delighted that our prayer meetings are swelling in numbers, but we always have room for more. You don't have to be Church of England to attend – all denominations welcome! Meetings are at 8pm on Wed 14th and 28th

November at The Birches, Church Rd. If you'd like prayers for someone, please let us know and if you'd like to join us, please call John Bowler, as we sometimes change times and dates last minute.

Community Breakfast: We will be holding our Community Breakfast again on Saturday 10th November, serving breakfast from 8.30 till 10.30am. If you've never been yet, now's the time to come along! There's no charge, you just pay what you feel it's worth or what you can afford. This will be our last Breakfast this year as the Community Centre will be in use for the old folks' Christmas party in December.

"Battle's over" commemoration: This year there's a special commemoration to mark 100 years since the end of WW1. The event, which is being organised by the Parish Council, will take place on the village Green at 6.30pm on 11th November. St Luke's Church is offering soft drinks and mulled wine and we hope you can join us.

Christmas Fair: St Luke's Christmas Fair will take place on Saturday 1st December in the Community Centre between 2pm and 4pm. The usual attractions will be there including Christmas hamper raffle, Church bookshop (selling cards and Advent goods), cake stall, refreshments, and a wide range of other stalls and this year you can visit Santa in his special grotto!

Christmas tree festival: Back by popular demand, it will be held on Sat 8th Dec 10am – 5pm and Sun 9th Dec 10am – 3pm. This year's theme is "All things bright & beautiful" There will be a meeting on 23rd Nov at 6.30pm at St Luke's for all those decorating trees. Please contact Hazel on 270404 if you'd like to decorate a tree.

A look ahead to our Christmas services – dates for your diary:

Sun 2nd Dec 4pm - St Luke's Church: Christingle service

Sun 9th Dec 4pm - St Luke's Church: Carol Service

Sun 23rd Dec time tbc - Village Green: Carol Singing

Mon 24th Dec 4pm - St Luke's Church: Crib Service (for children & adults)

Mon 24th Dec 11.30pm – St Luke's Church: Midnight Holy Communion (Mass)

Bible verse of the month: Proverbs 3 v 5: Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding;

What does it mean? One interpretation is: God has a plan for everything and though you don't understand why things have happened right now, with the passage of time (sometimes decades!) you might come to realise it was for the best.

Church Benefice Website: www.brickhillschurches.org.uk. If you want to come to a service, all church service times are listed on the website, along with contact details for the Rector. His phone goes straight to an answerphone but he will reply as soon as he's able. The Rector's day off is Monday.

Church news articles are now available to read on the benefice website (click on Stoke Hammond in the list and scroll down to Stoke Hammond Newsletters)

PHOTOGRAPH OF THE MONTH

For those of you who don't read the Stoke Hammond Village Report in the Leighton Buzzard Observer here is the picture that was published when Alistair Cook visited Stoke Hammond with his team the Bedfordshire Farmers to play in a friendly match against the Stoke Hammond team. To those of you who don't follow cricket, Alistair had a record-breaking career representing England in 161 test matches and was a 4 times Ashes winner and now plays county cricket for Essex and the occasional outing with the Bedfordshire Farmers. Alistair is pictured with Kutte from the Village stores.

"EVERYTHING BUT THE MOO"

Following last month's 'Things Domestic' for this eighth extract from the book 'Everything but the Moo' written by Hazel Turner's late mother Pam Murphy, we enter the now quite pertinent subject of a 'Woman in a Man's World'

WOMAN IN A MAN'S WORLD!

Farming is about the one career where a woman really is on equal terms with men – no one has so far ever had the temerity to suggest that milk from a farm run by a woman should be paid less than the normal rate or that wheat from that farm should be cheaper. However, I think that most woman farmers come about through taking over the family farm – I am not at all sure how a woman would set about purchasing a farm of her own without the money behind her. The expression of a bank manager approached by a woman for capital to buy a farm, even now, would probably make good material for Dr Who, if those I have come across are anything to go by! For some reason, although women must spend most of the nation's income by way of housekeeping, they are as a rule supposed to be quite unable to conduct a business, and one bank manager I approached for a quite normal bridging loan, spent so long painting a picture of their rocky fortunes that I cast prudence to the winds and said that if they were really so hard up I could lend them 50p until Friday!

I found early on that the one thing I should receive in abundance from my male counterparts was advice, good, bad and perfectly shocking, and even after a number of years every man who came through the farm gate felt impelled to give me the benefit of his vastly superior knowledge! Just let a crop kook as though it was doing rather badly and all and sundry would tell me that I should have ploughed it in, put more or less nitrogen fertiliser on – grazed it, or have some other answer. The temptation to ask if that fine field of buttercups they had laid down the lawn was being grown for a new kind of seed or crop was often great, but I found that my reward came when my cows were turned out to grass some time before any one else's in the neighbourhood, and the occasion when a farmer knocked at my back door and asked what it was my cows were grazing gave me deep satisfaction.

For some reason, all woman farmers are supposed to look like a well rounded Aberdeen Angus heifer from the rear, with legs like oak trees and a face like a well fed cart horse, topped with a bit of matted thatching. One of the commonest remarks I used to receive is the surprised, "But you don't look like a farmer!"

Certainly working on my farm, my usual dress was slacks, in various states of cleanliness, according to what I was doing, (just try climbing barbed wire fences in a skirt, or rounding up those heifers in a muddy yard in a full skirted dress) with a sloppy jersey. The state of my makeup depended on the time of day and previous occupations during the day, but I always did make a point of dressing tidily to go out, even if my hands were always a give away. I shall treasure the remark of the American I met at a large London dinner, who having expressed the usual amazement told me I must be the "Prettiest farmer this side of Arizona". This restored my deflated ego as the new vet's assistant had complimented me that I did not look the fifty years he thought I was, owing to the ambiguity of my remark about the number of cows I had, sometime before my fortieth birthday!

I found that when advertising for staff it paid to use my surname only, without prefix, and then when answering their replies those that were not interested in working for a woman just let it drop, but on the whole I don't think I had any more difficulty than a man in recruiting staff. Hans, my foreman had been with me virtually since we bought the farm and left only when I sold the farm in 1978. Ron Shipp, my cowman returned to me, having left and showed the same loyalty as Hans, so presumably they found no difficulty in working for a woman.

They knew that I was quite capable of using the thick edge of my tongue if things were not completed correctly, but I hope I was always fair if things went wrong that are beyond one's control and to be certain to take the blame if it was my own fault.

One of the occupational hazards encountered were sales representatives, who seem to think that I had all the time in the world, and some of whom liked not only a good gossip, but to pour out all their own family woes and troubles, apart from trying to sell me items I did not want to buy! I reduced this to a fine art, and since I also had all the usual household chores to do, got through huge piles of ironing while doing deals on tractors, feed, or anything else I did need! The unfortunate salesmen told me later that they would rather have done deals with any of the men farmers on their beat!

The main cow food salesman I usually tried to deal with while I was cooking – he can have his cup of coffee and when I had finished with him – he was told politely that the door was behind him.

One of my very minor irritations is that at meetings for farmers where I am often the only woman or at best two, the assembled company is almost always addressed just as "Gentlemen". I find that even today on the whole women are given little encouragement in the running of farmers' affairs, though on those committees that I do serve on I am fully expected to take my turn at chores in the form of votes of thanks, or the after-dinner speech.

On the whole, I find that my woman's place in the extremely masculine world of gumboots and dufflecoats is one of kindly amused tolerance, and it is very much up to me to prove that I am no less efficient than they are, and if possible just that little bit more!

VERSES IN THE VALE

Back in year 2000, Aylesbury Vale commissioned a collection of poems and verses focusing on the various communities within the vale. Put together by a local poet known as 'TOAD' this is the verse about Stoke Hammond.

There's something about Stoke Hammond,

What was it I wanted to say?

They were gassing on about something

In their community centre that day.

What was it I had to mention?

Perhaps something to do with the church?

St. Luke's of a thousand ages,

Pause while I memory search:

It was beautiful, serene and ancient

And they found it not in the least distressing

That St. Luke's being formerly St. Mary's,

Their church was into cross dressing.

There's something about Stoke Hammond,

They're broadminded, they didn't get mad

When settled by an alternative cult

Who danced on the Green – sky – clad.

VERSES IN THE VALE cont/d

They've been campaigning for a bypass.

Daily passed by sixteen thousand in a flash,
Now they rejoice, feet stepping off the gas,

By planning a Bypass Bash.

They've got Shush puppies instead of newshounds,

Streets of old schools, yet no local class –
What was that subject, I just can't remember.

The one that was giving them gas;

In the Dolphin, beer is flowing,

Everyone's having a gas;

Out on David Kessler's playing fields

They'll be playing some sporting match;

Fish and chips on Tuesdays

Comes at eight thirty on the van,

(They wish he'd visit before Soulbury

And are considering bribing the man)

They've got everything they need in life,

The post office is absolutely first class,

During their millennium party

Everyone was given a glass,

Their WI has no urge to strip,

Which is really all you ask,

If I just had a sniff of the missing element,

I'd have fully completed this task.

Let's see, I was sat in their citrus centre,

In the next field were springtime baas,

I was not trying to be a gasbag,

Letting the Stoke Hammondites be the stars.

I really can't remember,

I must be a dreadful ass,

Unless...Am I right? Could it be that...

Stoke Hammond aspires to mains gas.

SO STILL RELEVANT TODAY!

PAGEY'S SOW & GROW "PATCH"

That's what I call an Indian summer. Some rain which the garden wanted, loads of sun and warmth which the old bones wanted and a chance to ripen off all veg that's still hanging around. We are still cutting flowers (roses, dahlias, zinnias) by the bucketful, hardening off the last of the squash's for storage and drying off all the herbs to use through the winter. We had more French beans than we could eat and give away and I have saved the seeds/ beans for next year. Free French Bean seeds to anyone who wants them - just contact me page.chris1@googlemail.com and you can have them. Keep the seeds in a paper envelope in a cool, dark place and they will be fine next year.

So, we need to clear our borders before the weather gets much worse. I've dug up all the veg apart from cabbages, kale, swede, carrots and parsnips which are still in the ground for the next few months. Everything else is either stored, eaten, frozen or composted (see photo of before and after on my patch which I did this week). Leaving old growth in the ground only encourages decease, mold or a hiding place for those pesky slugs and . The same goes for all your annual flowers. Once they are spent pull them up and compost them. Half hardy perennials could do with some protection for the winter or you might have casualties and most herbs I pot up and chuck in the cold greenhouse. We talked about all this last month, but if you haven't got round to it, tidy the garden for the winter onslaught. I've planted my garlic, shallot sets, broad beans already. It is also a good time to plant shrubs and perennials provided you have some winter sun in your garden and your soil isn't just clay (waterlogged and freeeeeezzing) - if it is plant in the spring. The advantage of planting now is that the roots will get 6 weeks or so of growth in their new surroundings (just like moving house) - bare root fruit trees, lilies and the like can be done if you are quick for example. Not only that but tulip bulbs can all be planted now for early colour in spring - the array of colours, shapes and sizes these days is amazing...just get a couple of pots going if you haven't done it before.

Lastly, it's the annual decision of dig or no dig. I find it more of a dilemma than ever (getting older and thinking about the pros and cons a bit more). I have always dug over my borders, raised beds and garden for the next year. Always added lots of compost for conditioning the soil (now) and in the spring for nutrition. The theory of digging, as I understand it, is that it opens the soil up for oxygen, enables frost to break up big lumps of clay and is easy to work in the compost / manure which I dump on top - the worms do the rest. The downside is the winter rain can leach out the nutrients more easily - and you cop a load of back ache (and no sympathy from indoors). I've always dug my plot over (see photo). No dig is exactly that. You just pile on the compost / well-rotted manure - depending on what you are growing

I've poo poed that before, but talking to GED the human dynamo last week who announced that was what he was going to do this year, I'm rethinking. So dig or no dig...what do you think? Don't forget free French bean seeds for those who want them everyone can grow them in the smallest area....chow, Pagey

Do you have any old unwanted garden tools (eg spades, shovels forks, shears, hand trowels, long handled hoes (with undamaged handles) , manual sewing machines, manual typewriters (no electric ones) haberdashery, cotton clothing, wool, plumbing tools, motor mechanic tools, masonry & bricklaying tools, electricians tools, green woodworking tools etc. Screws and nails, bolts, hinges locks, solder and flux?

Would you like to donate them to be refurbished and put to better use?

There is a charity called WORKAID (reg charity number 1041574) based at The Old Boot Factory in Chesham Bucks who will arrange for someone to come and collect them from the village who works from Milton Keynes or Leighton Buzzard. The charity tackles poverty by supplying disadvantaged people with the tools they need to gain practical skills and become self-supporting. The tools are refurbished by a team of dedicated volunteers in the workshop. They are then sent to vocational training projects in the UK and Africa to help the vulnerable and disadvantaged people to learn a trade. The charity has been running for thirty years. There is a charity shop that opens on Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10am until 4pm and they sell items that can not be used or sent abroad such as PAT tested electrical, a wide range of hand tools as well as haberdashery and garden tools such as mowers, strimmers, hedgecutters etc. The shop is located at 71 Townsend Road Chesham HP6 2AA.

Buttons are proud to be part of the Stoke Hammond Community and have spent lots of time learning about the village, getting to know the locality and visiting places of interest

"On Friday 5th October a group of children from Buttons Preschool paid a visit to St Luke's church in Stoke Hammond. The children, their families and staff had been collecting food donations to deliver to the church as part of the Harvest Festival celebrations. Over the week the children had been learning about helping other people less fortunate and what it means to help people. They have also been finding out about where our food comes from.

The children thoroughly enjoyed their visit to the Church and were happy to share their donations by helping to unpack and lay out the food. They were given a tour of the church, where they admired the stained glass window and sang in the choir stalls too! The bell ringer described as "the little old man John" also gave the children a little demonstration, to which the children were very impressed.

Following the harvest festival lunch held in the community centre as a thank you from the committee, the children received a Harvest loaf the following Monday- this was a lovely gesture and very much enjoyed during snack time, they were able to recount the time spent in the church and all children mentioned “John” the bell ringer.

The children and the team at Buttons Preschool are looking forward to returning to St Luke’s in the near future to prepare for the festive season.” It has become a lovely tradition to walk up to the church and decorate a tree as well as having milk and cookies whilst singing carols, this year the Buttons themed tree will be “All things bright and Beautiful”

We have had visits from Tina the “PCSO”, Greg and his bouncy Labrador, Mick and his puppy, we have walked to the farm, the canal, across to the sports club, used the park and the MUGA (most weeks), we have visited Kutte in the shop and purchased stamps to put on letters to send to our twinning nursery, we have used the zebra crossing to learn about road safety, collected leaves and conkers as well as “magic” walnuts, in the spring we are looking forward to watching the daffodils bloom on the green.

In May our Buttons watched in anticipation as the eggs cracked and our ducks were hatched, 6 fluffy ducklings were born and all children were completely enthralled and amazed as they held them for the first time, placing them in the tuff spot of water to watch them swim. The staff were as sad as the children when the time came to say goodbye!

No two days at Preschool are ever the same, the children love to learn new things, they are eager to learn and develop and we are so proud to be part of getting our Buttons ready for school.

Buttons offer an Open Door policy and welcome visits at any time during the preschool day, if you are interested in coming for a show around please do feel free to either drop in or give us a call.

Tree of Light commemorations offer comfort at Christmas

The Florence Nightingale Hospice Charity Tree of Light commemorations are open to anyone in our community who wishes to spend some time quietly remembering friends and family members who have died. The ceremonies are open to all, regardless of religion or spirituality, and it doesn't matter whether your loved ones were cared for by Florence Nightingale Hospice or died at home or in hospital.

"The Tree of Light events are designed to give people a space where a part of the season is set aside to commemorate loved ones," says Ann Kenny, the new Bereavement Support Team Lead at the Hospice. "Christmas can often be a time of conflicting emotions, or it can be so busy that those who are grieving can't find a time to process feelings of sadness which may come to the fore at this time of year."

There are a number of different ways to commemorate loved ones through the Hospice's Tree of Light events. Sponsor a light in memory of them and write a dedication which will appear in the Books of Honour which can be viewed at the Hospice in December and early January, and at the two Tree of Light events. Or come along to one or both Tree of Light services which will take place at the Head Office of Florence Nightingale Hospice Charity at Walton Lodge, Walton Street, Aylesbury, at 5pm on Sunday 2nd December and at St Peter and St Paul's Church, Buckingham at 4pm on Saturday 8th December.

To sponsor a light in memory of someone, please call our Fundraising Team on 01296 429 975 to request a Tree of Light Form or find out more at www.fnhospice.org.uk/tree-of-light

Whether you are looking for short or long term accommodation The Orchard Hotel has so much to offer. This old family home has been sympathetically and tastefully converted and now provides accommodation and assisted living for retired gentlefolk.

There are five single and two double fully serviced guest rooms, each with:

- En-suite facilities
- Personal colour TV
- Drinks making amenities
- Courtesy tea and coffee
- Fridge, freezer and microwave
- Personal laundry service, if required

Residents are invited to make full use of the guest lounge and sun room as well as the indoor and outdoor swimming pools and the beautifully and lovingly tended gardens.

The majority of guests at The Orchard choose to be self sufficient and prepare their own meals or eat at nearby pubs and restaurants. However, hotel staff are happy to cater for guests providing this is arranged in advance.

The Orchard is fully accessible for anyone with limited mobility. It is regretted however that pets cannot be accommodated.

OUR NEWS

the e-newsletter for Neighbourhood Watch supporters

OCTOBER 2018 EDITION

What could you really lose in a hack? Important advice from our partner Cyber Aware.

As supporters of Neighbourhood Watch, you know the importance of us all keeping our homes safe. To protect them we fit locks to our doors and windows, don't share our keys with strangers and get our locks changed if we are burgled. We also look out for friends and neighbours. However we don't always apply the same care online, even though it can mean putting just as much, if not more valuable information at risk.

From Cyber Aware research, we know people's inboxes can be a 'treasure trove' for hackers – with access to bank details, passport photos and home addresses. Hackers are able to exploit a weak email password and this can leave us vulnerable to the risk of identity theft. There's also the sentimental value of our inbox – what it means to us personally. If someone took a look inside your email they might also see the more intimate keepsakes we often leave in our inboxes - emails from a loved one etc.

And what about what your inbox might say about those other things you'd be less keen to share with the world? Perhaps you have emails containing private information about your medical history or a job search.

It's worth remembering that this information is valuable to you but it's also valuable to hackers and cyber criminals.

The Cyber Aware #OneReset campaign is designed to make people really think about the emotional and financial value of our inboxes and treat them in the same way we treat treasured possessions in the offline world. We get the contents of our home valued, how much would we value the contents of our inbox? If we suffered a hack or were locked out of our email account we might feel a significant loss – both in financial and emotional terms.

It's time we mirrored our approach to security

CYBER AWARE

Want to make your inbox as safe as your home? Here are 3 ways to stay safe online:

- Use a strong and separate password for your email account
- Activate a two step authentication on your email
- Use password managers to store passwords for your less important accounts

Consider the similarities between your home and your devices...

- You wouldn't have the same key for your car, house and bike lock - use a strong and separate password for your email account
- We upgrade TVs, washing machines and blenders as they become old and less effective or safe - install the latest software and app updates
- When we go on holiday or even to the corner shop we lock our front door - secure your tablet or smartphone with a screen-lock
- Home insurance is there in case the worst happens and our home is damaged - always back-up your most important data offline in our online worlds. The Cyber Aware #OneReset campaign is encouraging the nation use #OneReset and take the simple step of having a strong and separate password for email accounts to help protect your identity. Your email account is a gateway to a vast amount of information and hackers can use it to access many of your other personal accounts, include your bank details.

For more advice on simple ways to be more secure online, visit the Cyber Aware website.

EDITORS NOTE

With Christmas looming this edition of the SH News contains quite a few adverts for Seasonal linked events, such as the St Luke's Xmas Fayre, Button's Christmas Party and the Senior Citizens Christmas Lunch. But before we get to these, there is a very important event that commemorates 100 years since the cessation of the hostilities that was World War One. So please do look at the back cover of this issue and I would hope as many of you as possible will attend this event on the Village Green to remember all that served and lost their lives to protect this nation of ours. We may be a 'Thankful Village' where all that left this village to serve in that war returned, but we should remember those from elsewhere who did not.

I thank Buttons Pre-School for providing a local organisation report for this month's edition and I would reiterate that this is the sort of thing I would like to include in future editions, so we can all learn more about what you do. You know who you are, so please do let me have more information about what you do and are planning.

May I please have copy for the December issue by 20th November
