

Our Story

On Chicago's South Side, an Outfit wasn't just what you wore—it was who you were

The Sandwich Outfit draws its inspiration from the old neighborhood Italian kitchens where the crews ate—places where sandwiches were built big, bold, and made to stick with you. Breaded steak fried hard, Italian beef dripping with gravy, meatballs simmered slow, and sausage with real bite.

Nothing light. Nothing trendy. Nothing fake.

At The Sandwich Outfit, we keep that tradition alive—classic South Side Italian sandwiches with recipes that were passed down not written down, elevated the way the Outfit would've demanded, made with respect, tradition, flavor, and just enough attitude.

This is comfort food with an edge.
Respectful to tradition—but not stuck in it.

The Sandwich Outfit isn't nostalgia.
It's a continuation.

Pull up a chair.
Because some sandwiches don't just feed you.

They run the neighborhood.
