

ABOUT

Alan Plager | Over 1 Billion Sold

My goal is to combine over 20 years experience along with today's ever changing technology. Today's buyers have become very tech savvy with the use of mobile devices and social media. Just 10 short years ago, less than 10% of prospective buyers used smartphones and tablets to find their home. Today, I am finding close to 80%. I market my listings directly to these buyers. I provide them with today's tools to find that home of their dreams

GENERAL AREA

My driving force is the fundamental feeling that we get by giving to others. Therefore, 100 percent of my focus and time spent is on helping my clients to get exactly what they are looking for. Whether it is helping someone sell their home, helping a buyer find a first home, retirement location, or new to the area, I will be there for you throughout the entire process. I want to investigate your unique needs and work together with you to develop a successful plan that enables you to accomplish your goals.
