

Reflections on the Compass Give, Spend and Save Study Keturah Wright, Angelus Diaz, Tai'Von Noel, Josiah Wright

Keturah Wright (9th grade):

“Compass was a good experience for me because before I had that class I did not know how to manage my money God’s way. So it was good to learn about how to save and spend it and work with it and how to put it in certain businesses.”

Angelus Diaz (High School Junior)

“What I liked about it is the discussion, the reality that you learn about life as you get older, how to invest and save money God’s way, and how to be helpful to the world.”

Tai’Von Noel (High School Sophomore)

“What I like about Compass is that the discussions were really meaningful. It helped me realize what is my trigger for not wanting to give, my fears towards giving and what was holding me back, and why I am not saving all of the time. It helped me realize that saving is the way to go and you should do it in a Godly manner. So I really enjoyed Compass.”

Reflections on the Compass Give, Spend and Save Study Keturah Wright, Angelus Diaz, Tai'Von Noel, Josiah Wright

Josiah Wright (High School Sophomore)

“Compass was really eye opening and it helps you. It makes you think how you should manage money and I really like that.”