

EPISCOPAL VETERANS FELLOWSHIP

The EVF was born in 2009 in a resolution from General Convention to “Encourage the establishment of an Episcopal Veterans Fellowship for each diocese.” In 2014, with a blessing from the Rt. Rev. Andy Doyle and a grant from the Episcopal Evangelism Society, a group of veterans gathered at St. David’s, Austin, for a Pilgrimage of Remembrance and Reconciliation.

First Members

Under the stained-glass window depicting St. Martin of Tours, the patron saint of veterans, they prayed for their friends who died in war and homecoming. By 2015, four parishes in the Diocese of Texas hosted EVF groups, a testament to the enthusiasm and dedication of those first members.

Reaching Out

The EVF equips Christians for missional ministry to veterans through prayer, hospitality, and reconciliation. We offer educational workshops, consulting, and coaching so your Church can reach out with God’s love to the veterans who live in your community. Each EVF group is led by a member of the Hospitallers of St. Martin, a New Monastic Christian Community for Veterans Ministry.

Meetings

The EVF gathers on Tuesday nights at St. David’s Episcopal Church in Austin, TX. Other groups meet at other parishes in Central Texas and beyond. In our meetings we build community, learn about moral injury, practice Lament, pray Compline, and journey home from war together.

Citation: General Convention, Journal of the General Convention of The Episcopal Church, Anaheim 2009 (New York: General Convention, 2009) pp. 535-536.

EPISCOPAL VETERANS FELLOWSHIP

The EVF was born in 2009 in a resolution from General Convention to “Encourage the establishment of an Episcopal Veterans Fellowship for each diocese.” In 2014, with a blessing from the Rt. Rev. Andy Doyle and a grant from the Episcopal Evangelism Society, a group of veterans gathered at St. David’s, Austin, for a Pilgrimage of Remembrance and Reconciliation.

First Members

Under the stained-glass window depicting St. Martin of Tours, the patron saint of veterans, they prayed for their friends who died in war and homecoming. By 2015, four parishes in the Diocese of Texas hosted EVF groups, a testament to the enthusiasm and dedication of those first members.

Reaching Out

The EVF equips Christians for missional ministry to veterans through prayer, hospitality, and reconciliation. We offer educational workshops, consulting, and coaching so your Church can reach out with God’s love to the veterans who live in your community. Each EVF group is led by a member of the Hospitallers of St. Martin, a New Monastic Christian Community for Veterans Ministry.

Meetings

The EVF gathers on Tuesday nights at St. David’s Episcopal Church in Austin, TX. Other groups meet at other parishes in Central Texas and beyond. In our meetings we build community, learn about moral injury, practice Lament, pray Compline, and journey home from war together.

Citation: General Convention, Journal of the General Convention of The Episcopal Church, Anaheim 2009 (New York: General Convention, 2009) pp. 535-536.

Episcopal Veterans Fellowship

a Christian Community of Veterans

episcopalveteransfellowship.org
facebook.com/EpiscopalVeteransFellowship-Texas
facebook.com/EpiscopalVeteransFellowship-South Carolina
Founder: The Rev. Dr. David Peters, Iraq Veteran
512.571.4124/dpeters@stmarksaustin.org

Episcopal Veterans Fellowship

a Christian Community of Veterans

episcopalveteransfellowship.org
facebook.com/EpiscopalVeteransFellowship-Texas
facebook.com/EpiscopalVeteransFellowship-South Carolina
Founder: The Rev. Dr. David Peters, Iraq Veteran
512.571.4124/dpeters@stmarksaustin.org

