The Black Flag Church Worship Schedule: A Weekly Guideline for Spiritual Exploration, Autonomy, and Personal Growth

This document provides an organized schedule for the church worship of The Black Flag¹, founded by the individual entity, Brandon Michael Jeanpierre. It is an embodiment of the principle of religious freedom and personal autonomy. The schedule includes a variety of activities ranging from introspective practices like gazing into the abyss and wrestling with self-loathing, to practical initiatives such as solving world hunger (confidentially), and maintaining interpersonal commitments. The schedule, while structured, is inherently flexible and can be modified by Brandon Michael Jeanpierre, allowing for the fluidity and dynamism that personal growth often requires.

Sunday - Self-guided Exploration Day:

- All day: Open time for Brandon Michael Jeanpierre and anyone who fucks with this outfit to engage in any activity they feel like doing in alignment with the constitutional foundation of religious freedom.

- Man, staying up all night doesn't affect you?

Me: nope, look at me fresh as a daisy

Herein, the existential dread of Monday shall set in regardless of circumstance.

Monday - Introspection and Self-pity Day:

- Morning: Time set aside to wallow in self-pity.
- Afternoon: Reflection on actions and emotions from the past week, followed by Jazzercise for physical and mental wellbeing.

Tuesday - Abyss Gazing:

- All day: Contemplative practice of staring into the abyss, exploring the unknown, and embracing ambiguity.

Wednesday - Will Execution Day:

- All day: Time for executing any plans or intentions set by Brandon Michael Jeanpierre, keeping in mind the principle of reasonable consideration.

Thursday - Hunger Alleviation Efforts:

- All day: Quietly working on initiatives to help solve world hunger without notifying anyone.

Friday - Emotional and Spiritual Autonomy Day:

- Evening: Dinner with the requester, as a non-cancellable appointment.

Saturday - Reflection and Wrestling Day:

- Morning: Contemplation on the potential consequences of actions taken, with respect to the principle of six centuries and sixty-six decades.
- Afternoon: Time set aside to wrestle with self-loathing and to work on self-improvement and acceptance.

Rotating Sunday - City Visiting:

- All day: Visit to the city of Tangent. This takes place every alternate Sunday.

Rotating Monday - TV Party Day:

- All day: Time for a TV party. This takes place every alternate Monday, opposite the City Visiting day.

The schedule, while structured, is inherently flexible and can be modified by Brandon Michael Jeanpierre, allowing for the fluidity and dynamism that personal growth often requires.
