Event Layout Map Key:
Aqua Blue—ATHLETES / VOLUNTEER / STAFF ONLY
Yellow =Parking areas
RED —Spectator / Friends / Family Allowed areas

Take a look friends! This is your map. It's very scientific, drafted with top of the line aerial cameras and drafting tools.....
Look at the colors and the key. Blue is YOU athletes. This is your area, along with staff and volunteers. Yellow is where you park. If you bring friends, sherpas, family, that second date friend that you want to see you in action....they belong in the RED. Basically they can be anywhere OUTSIDE THE BLUE. Due to our re-emergence into this world of triathlon, we need to keep the people that are not competing out of our event. This event is following the Tennessee Pledge, and we, as the owners, staff, and volunteers of this event will do our best to uphold this pledge and promise to you guys, the athletes! Please follow this link to view the TN Pledge guidelines for Noncontact Sports

All that being said, please do your best to follow these guidelines. I want to be trusted by our civil leaders to hold events that keep you safe and prevents the spread of the cooties while promoting healthy lifestyles and preserving mental health of triathletes. So if you want to help preserve MY mental health, you will be good boys and girls while playing triathlon this weekend. Thanks for your pledge to PBR to keep the RD from going Cray-cray!
