Sentence: The soft, warm interior melted in the mouth, a burst of flavors and textures.

Paragraph:

The aroma of freshly baked bread wafted through the air, tempting passersby into the bakery.

____(1)____. Crusty loaves lined the shelves, their golden exteriors inviting a bite. ____ (2) _____. Each bite carried the labor of skilled bakers, who kneaded the dough with love and expertise. ____ (3) _____. The bakery became a haven for bread enthusiasts, a place to satisfy their cravings. ____ (4) _____.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: The Earth has an iron core that is part liquid and part solid crystal, due to gravitational pressure.

Paragraph:

____(1)____. A compass works by detecting and responding to the Earth's natural magnetic fields.
____(2)____. It is believed that movement in the liquid outer core is what produces the Earth's magnetic field. ____ (3) _____. Like all such fields, the Earth's magnetic field has two poles - North and South. These magnetic poles are slightly off from the Earth's axis of rotation, which is used as the basis of the geographic poles – however, the magnetic and geographic poles are close enough to allow a compass to serve as a valuable navigation tool. ____ (4) ____.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: When it comes to evolution, pleasure is deployed as bait as much as for immediate reward.
Paragraph:

The popularity of pets, animal films, TV shows, and books suggests that interaction with animals derives from a deeply rooted human need. ____ (1) _____. Recent findings that companion animals contribute positively to many people's physical and emotional health do not in themselves explain why animals exert such effects; rather, they suggest that animals have long been associated with human well-being. ____ (2) _____. The same goes for the simple pleasures so many of us derive from observing and interacting with animals. ____ (3) _____. 'Pleasure' is not something that natural selection doles out without a reason – and we would expect that reason to be intimately connected with maximizing fitness. ____ (4) _____.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Paragraph:

____(1)____. Democracy implied a political Golden Rule: what you do not want done to yourself, do not try to impose on others; what you do impose on others, submit to yourself. ____ (2) _____. Those who wish not to have consent trampled upon must not be party to such trampling themselves. ____ (3) _____. There is no separation of people into the categories of those born naturally to freedom and those born, as in Aristotle's Politics, with slave-like traits and who are unable to live on any higher plane than subservience and unintelligence. ____ (4) _____.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

Paragraph:

____(1)____. We pronounce patients dead but are little involved in the worries of their afterlives.

____(2)____. Yet a person's spirituality can be injured, as their body can. ____ (3) ____ . Sometimes, a person's only support system is their religion. Other times, it's how they reconcile their illness. If doctors cannot tap into that support and perspective, we do our patients a disservice. ____ (4) ____ .

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

Sentence: Reporters left convinced that their prior skepticism was warranted, and the Wright brothers were ignored yet again.

Paragraph:

_____(1)_____. Six months later, they invited the press to attend their first flight of 1904.

_____(2)_____. Unfortunately, mechanical problems and poor winds prevented all but a short airborne skip. _____(3)_____. In return, the brothers avoided the press for the remainder of 1904 and most of 1905, instead focusing on achieving a powered flight that in no way could be misinterpreted as a mere "hop." _____(4)_____. At Huffman Prairie outside Dayton, Ohio, they progressed further and further until by the fall of 1905 they were making long flights of 20 minutes or more.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: Philosophers such as Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, and Xenophon were not fans; they believed Sophistry to be a lowly endeavour designed to sound deep.

Paragraph:

____(1)____. While they note Plato's scepticism of Sophistry, they believe "clever rhetorical tricks" used by Sophists were necessary for a democracy to function. ____ (2) ____ . Initially, Sophists secured wealthy clients. ____ (3) ____ . In exchange for payment, they taught education and rhetoric, as well as music and other arts. ____ (4) ____ . Socrates sang the praises of Truth (Sophia) alone; his student, Plato, thought Sophist rhetoric manipulated audiences. Sophistry could never lead to Sophia.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: If we had started working on this problem back in the '60s and '70s, we would have had plenty of time to affect a technological transition to renewable energy and other technologies that don't put greenhouse gases into the atmosphere.

Paragraph:

_____(1)_____. I feel very sad. I feel that there's been a huge missed opportunity here. I feel somewhat mad because I think that the people who knowingly spread disinformation bear a substantial share of the blame. _____. (2) _____. People have been hurt, property has been damaged, lives have been lost because of climate change, and I won't say that this was all preventable, but certainly a lot of it was preventable. _____. (3) _____. And the really sad thing about it is, if you read the scientific work from the 1970s, some of the scientists involved even explicitly say, 'Well, some people are saying we should wait and see — we should wait and see what happens. _____. (4) _____.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: In some respects, this is good news for a predator, which can't afford to wait hours to track its prey.

Paragraph:

____(1)____. This strategy — called gradient search or chemotaxis — works quite well if the odor molecules are distributed in a well-mixed fog, which is the end stage of a process known as diffusion.

____(2)____. But diffusion occurs very slowly, so thorough mixing can take a long time. In most natural situations, odors flow through the air in a narrow and sharply delineated stream, or plume. Such plumes, and the smells they convey, travel much more quickly than they would by diffusion.

____(3)____. But the news is not all good: Odor plumes are almost always turbulent, and turbulent flow makes searching by gradient wildly inefficient. ____ (4) ____

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide in which blank (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: Many of Haidt's solutions for parents, adolescents, educators and big technology firms are reasonable, including stricter content-moderation policies and requiring companies to take user age into account when designing platforms and algorithms.

Paragraph:

____(1)____. Two things can be independently true about social media. First, there is no evidence that using these platforms is rewiring children's brains or driving an epidemic of mental illness. Second, that considerable reforms to these platforms are required, given how much time young people spend on them .____(2)____. Others, such as age-based restrictions and bans on mobile devices, are unlikely to be effective in practice — or worse, could backfire given what we know about adolescent behavior.____(3)____. A third truth is that we have a generation in crisis and in desperate need of the best of what science and evidence-based solutions can offer .____(4)____. Unfortunately, our time is being spent telling stories that are unsupported by research and that do little to support young people who need and deserve more.

- A. Option 1
- B. Option 2
- C. Option 3
- D. Option 4

Despite initially seeming like harmless banter or playful rivalry, its underlying motivations can sow seeds of discord and resentment within relationships. ____ (3) _____. The persistent need to demonstrate one's worth or dominance can create an atmosphere of tension and mistrust, gradually corroding the foundation of mutual respect and understanding. ____ (4) _____.

Sentence: Rewards for improved performance work better than punishment for mistakes. This proposition is supported by much evidence from research on pigeons, rats, humans, and other animals.

Paragraph:

_____ (1) _____. The problem with this approach is that it doesn't enhance performance or inspire self-improvement. It actually has the opposite effect as psychologist Daniel Kahneman notes in his book Thinking, Fast and Slow. _____ (2) _____. Trustworthy leaders build up a person by focusing on their strengths and rewarding their successes. _____ (3) _____. When they do have to mete out criticism, they do so one-on-one behind closed doors, and they couch the criticism as an opportunity for growth and a means to reinforce those strengths. ____ (4) _____.
