

Brian Naish / Flags Unlimited

"I was driving to work this morning and heard Mark Critch lend his voice to the PRO CANADA PROJECT you are running."

Brian Naish, co-owner of Flags Unlimited in Barrie, Ontario, heard The Pro Bono Group's PRO CANADA campaign on the radio and reached out with an offer of a complimentary Canadian flag for everyone involved.

"As Canada's largest flag manufacturer, we've been proudly making flags here at home since 1966. This year, with a renewed surge of Canadian pride, our team of over 90 Canadians has been working harder than ever to keep up with the demand for our national flag."

Brian personally shipped new Canadian flags to all twenty-five famous Canadians who have so far lent their voice to the PRO CANADA PROJECT – including Anne Murray, David Suzuki, Sarah McLachlan, Rick Hansen, Lisa LaFlamme, and Chris Cuthbert. The campaign encourages everyone to "buy Canadian" and project Canadian jobs.

"To us, there is nothing more patriotic than a Canadian-made flag, and we hope it serves as a lasting symbol of pride and unity you help inspire."
