The Mission:

To empower leaders through effective training, equipping and deploying them for service.

The Vision:

To see all young people saved.

Philosophy:

The Seventh-day Adventist Church is committed to training youth and young adults for leadership and service to God and humanity. As God has used young people to pioneer the Adventist Church, He continually uses youth and young adults in this present generation to fulfill the mission of the church. One of the effective ways to cultivate their leadership potential is through the MGC ministry. The MGC provides a balanced approach to the development of the spiritual, mental, physical and social aspects of life. Its philosophy is based on the premise that young people if "rightly trained," will contribute to the finishing of God's work. When young people are given the opportunity to take leadership roles, be actively involved in discipling Adventurers and/or Pathfinders, serve in Youth Ministries, and take part in community outreach endeavors, they'll be able to take ownership of the mission of the Church and gain life-changing experiences that will inspire their leadership and ministry.

In addition, the MGC exists to disciple children, youth and young adults in conjunction with the Gospel Commission (Matt. 28:19-20). With love as the distinguishing mark of a true disciple of Christ (John 13:35), the MGC will offer a friendly environment where everyone is loved, trusted and supported, and meaningful relationships are forged. It is also a place where candidates will grow together spiritually and learn to work together using their God-given talents and spiritual gifts.
