ORDERLY AFFAIRS

Helping you get your affairs in order

I am an independent consultant helping people in British Columbia avoid chaos and confusion at end-of-life with services that make the tasks required to get their affairs in order, easy to complete.

My passion is to help people get organized and to thoughtfully prepare for end of life, well before there is a need to do so.

Please refer to my website for a full description of services.

ORDERLY AFFAIRS GUIDE

The Orderly Affairs Guide will help you get your affairs in order so others don't need to do it for you.

You will receive a comprehensive guide outlining essential tasks so that you can easily get your affairs in order for any stage in life. At your own pace, you will complete tables and insert documents so that your designated representatives will have the information they will need to assist you and respect your wishes. Having these plans in place ahead of time can save your estate thousands of dollars as well as save your representatives from unnecessary grief trying to locate everything on their own. Your Orderly Affairs Guide will give you peace of mind knowing that this important work is done.

ADVANCE CARE PLANNING

Advance care planning is about preparing for your future health care decision making.

You and your invited guest will attend a 90 minute Zoom presentation to learn about what is involved with advance care planning as per requirements in British Columbia. We sort through volumes of information available on this subject matter for you and present the best resources, without overwhelming you with information. After the presentation, we will send you a step by step digital workbook that will enable you to put advance care planning documents in place, including a basic Representation Agreement. Included with this service is your own private 50 minute consultation.

END-OF-LIFE EDUCATION AND PLANNING

Planning for the end of our lives can be difficult. It requires us to reflect on our values, beliefs, and priorities and identify what truly matters. This personal insight helps us decide about our end-of-life preferences, such as funeral planning, future healthcare decisions, and estate planning. Ultimately, understanding what matters at the end of life is a pathway to living more fully today.

Select from topics such as “Making Sense of Life and Death,” and “Departure Directions” to confidentially explore your outlook with Daralynn Wei, a licensed Willow End-of-Life Educator.™ These topics are what people of all ages ask about when considering their final arrangements. End-of-life education will help with personal planning required to get your affairs in order!
