

September Facts

September comes from the Latin word septem “seven,” because this was the seventh month of the early Roman calendar.
Stone = Sapphire Flower = Aster

As of August 2017, only 60% of the WTC victims’ remains have been positively identified. This leaves 1,113 of the 2,753 who have no biological confirmation of death.

After the first attack, it took 102 minutes for both of the Twin Towers to collapse.

Only 12 survivors were pulled from the rubble after the collapse of the towers. The last survivor was pulled out of the rubble after being stuck for 23 hours.

Out of all four planes, three hit their targets. However, the fourth plane, Flight 93, was reclaimed by the passengers before being crashed into a field. It is theorized that the passengers of Flight 93 attacked the cockpit with a fire extinguisher. When the plane crashed, all 44 people aboard were killed. The target of Flight 93 isn’t known for sure, but it was believed to be on the way to attack the White House, the U.S. Capitol, the Camp David presidential retreat, or one of several nuclear power plants on the East coast.

After the attacks, it took firefighters 100 days to extinguish all the fires around Ground Zero.

$100 million dollars worth of art was lost in the collapse of the towers, including a memorial piece for the victims of the ’93 bombing and paintings by Pablo Picasso.

During the destruction, a guide dog named Roselle led her blind owner down 78 flights of stairs and to the home of a friend.

On a normal day at the towers, up to 50,000 employees worked in the buildings, and an extra 40,000 passed through.

While workers were going through the debris, they found 65,000 items, including 437 watches and 144 wedding rings.

When the National Guard went after Flight 93, the two pilots who took to the air didn’t have time to properly arm their jets. The pilots knew that if they intercepted a hijacked plane, they would have to fly their jets into the aircraft with no guarantee of their own ejection. In other words, the brave pilots went on a suicide mission.

The 9/11 attack has been the largest loss of life in a foreign attack on American soil – higher than even Pearl Harbor.

The New York Times wrote an article about every single 9/11 victim. They called the series “Portraits of Grief.”

At least 200 people jumped from the towers during the blitz. The fall lasted less than 10 seconds. Rather than suicide, these deaths were ruled as homicides at the hands of the terrorists.

There have been several memorials for 9/11 erected around the world made out of rubble from the towers. Some locations include Israel, Italy, and more impressively, a piece of the towers has ended up as a memorial on some space tools on Mars.

More than 1,100 people who worked or lived near the World Trade Centers during 9/11 have been diagnosed with cancer due to exposure to toxins from the site. Some of these include asbestos, smoke from jet fuel, and carcinogens.

Canada took in 255 diverted flights from the United States on 9/11. Upon receiving them, the Canadians fed the stranded passengers.

Over 100 Search and Rescue dogs were deployed to help find survivors in the rubble of the towers.

September 11th is now commemorated as Patriot’s Day to honor those who died in the tragedy.

The attacks killed nearly 3,000 people, including 400 emergency service workers.

The employee who gave the order to ground all planes after the 9/11 attacks was Ben Sliney - and it was his first day on the job.

Those who were old enough can easily recount exactly where they were when the news hit.

The infamous phrase “Never Forget” will forever be tied to the catastrophe, while the names of the victims remain eternally engraved on the elegant memorials that are in place of where the World Trade Center’s once stood.

The anniversary of 9/11 is always a respectful memory of what happened and a solemn reminder that even the strongest countries are not invincible.

The 9/11 attacks killed 2,996 people, 400 of which were emergency personnel such as firefighters and policemen. The number of people injured was over 6,000.

Aside from the two planes that were flown into both Trade Center buildings, a third plane hit the Pentagon, and a fourth plane crashed into a field in Pennsylvania.

The plan included 19 men who were part of the radical group al-Qaeda led and founded by Osama Bin Laden. The entire plot was organized by Bin Laden himself.

Bin Laden originally denied having a part in the invasion but later released a video in which he admitted to having orchestrated the assault.

It is estimated that the attack caused a minimum of $10 billion in infrastructure and property damage. The cost of the cleanup was $750 million dollars.

Cleanup for the 1.8 million tons of debris took 3.1 million man-hours. It was finally finished on May 30, 2002.

The ages of the victims ranged from two to 85 years old. About 75-80% of the victims were men.

The collapse of the second tower only took around 10 seconds.

184 people were killed by the planes hitting the Pentagon, including the passengers and hijackers.
