

Dear friends,

As many of you will have seen from our recent updates, we've been gradually moving the business in a gluten-free direction for some time.

We've now made the decision to fully commit to this path and focus on the gluten-free market from our current premises. As a result, our final day serving Proper Pizza as a takeaway establishment will be Saturday, 2nd May.

Going forward, you'll still be able to enjoy our gluten-free range, including part-baked pizzas and garlic breads to heat and eat at home, as well as our much-loved cheesy garlic and chocolate doughballs. These will be available to purchase directly from our premises on Lion Yard, as well as through a number of stockists, which we'll keep you updated on.

We want to take this moment to thank you all for your incredible support over the past decade. It truly means everything to us.

Much love,

The Proper Pizza Team
