Cannabis - CBD

How does CBD work?

The endocannabinoid system is a network of neurons throughout the human body loaded with receptors that bind to cannabinoids (CBD). This system is responsible for regulating balance in our immune response, cell communication, appetite and metabolism regulation, memory, and much more.

Who is CBD for?

It's particularly helpful for people suffering from chronic pain and inflammation, however it is truly beneficial to all. It's known to release muscles faster—melting away stubborn knots, with less trigger-point pain, that may otherwise take twice as long for a therapist to release.

See Enhancements section (p. 1) for upgrade pricing.
