A Note from Rick: Markets were steady this week at TLA. All the markets seem to be very stable with very little change over the last couple months. We've had a few slight ups & downs, but very little change overall. I don't see or hear of anything in the near future that is going to change this. We're in a little slower time of year for cattle movements & that won't change until we get a little closer to Spring. With the Holiday's falling in the middle of the week it will make things a little more difficult to manage over the next two weeks. We're all in the process of putting the final touches on 2024 & looking forward to great things in 2025!!! Hope to see you soon at TLA!!!
