A Note From Rick: Markets were weaker this week at TLA. The two markets that stood out were the butcher cows & baby calves. Both of these markets fell off considerably & have been on that trend for several weeks in a row. There is a lot of negative news in the beef market that has definitely created some turmoil. I'm not sure what to think about it all & where prices will settle when it all shakes out. Prices were very, very high & probably needed some correction. Usually, when these surprises show up in the markets, there is a bit of an overreaction & it takes a little time to settle in & we see prices regain some of the loss. Not sure if we're at that point yet, but we sure hope so. Have a great week & we hope to see you soon at TLA!
