A Note From Rick: Markets continue to soar at a record pace. There was very little change in any of our markets on Tuesday as prices remain very strong. Markets have been in this pattern for quite some time now & over the last month or so have really jumped again. This isn't a big surprise as we enter the Spring market which is generally the strongest market of the year. The weather is trying to act like Spring, but hasn't really let us have it yet. I'm sure it'll be right around the corner & that will kick off the 2025 farming season. Have a great week & we hope to see you soon at TLA!
