A Note from Rick: Another busy week at TLA. We had very little change in any of the markets on Tuesday. The calf market is very active with a lot of strength. The slaughter markets have been weaker & under a lot of pressure with bigger numbers on the market. This happens every year it seems & this year it's been a little later than usual. I look for this to continue for the next few weeks. Thursday, we had the Special Springer Sale & we had a big run. Prices were not as consistent throughout the sale, but neither was the quality. When you compare the top 100 head averages, they were down $49/head from last month, which was the highest we've ever had. All in all, the market was very strong, but small heifers, or heifers that aren't quite ready, aren't going to sell as well. I think this market has peaked for now. Have a great week & we will see you soon at TLA!!
