A Note from Rick: Markets are steady to stronger this week at TLA; more of the same in the markets on Tuesday. The butcher cow market was stronger this week. Prices were right back where they were a month ago, if not a little higher. This beef market is on fire! Normally, during this time of year, prices struggle a bit. Not the case this year the way it looks. Thursday, we had the Special Springer Sale & prices were very steady compared to last month. The dairy cattle market seems to be holding strong if not getting a little stronger in some areas despite the weaker milk prices. We've had some nice weather over the last few weeks that has provided some much-needed rain. This has seemed to shake things up a bit in the grain markets & it looks like we may have some lower prices moving forward. Have a great week & we hope to see you soon at TLA!!
