A Note From Rick: Markets showed strength across the board to start off the new year. Butcher cows were stronger along with baby calves. These two markets have been slowly gaining over the last four weeks. This has become a trend that has put prices very near the all-time highs that were set early last fall. Prices at the Springer sale on Thursday were much more consistent than they were in December. This market has seemed to have stabilized over the last month. Prices aren't as high as they were at the peak, but they are within a couple of hundred dollars and seem to be stable. Lower milk prices have definitely played a role in this, but with butcher cows and calves coming back strong, it makes sense for dairy cattle prices to bounce back as well. Have a great week, and we hope to see you soon at TLA!!
